Dear Carol,

How are you? I am fine. We've had loads of fun since I met you. I am very glad I met you. Excuse my writing. I can't think of anything to write. But I will try and try again. Don't forget all the times we've gotten it in art, home Ec and gym. Remember "Old Man Barrow?" and "Old Lady Thayer?"

GUIDES

Don't forget the fun we've had on our home room picnic. Didn't we have fun tho? (la, la) We really had fun at field day tho, that was really fun during rest time. Don't forget Scully and you and him. They have made a good pair. (Have lots of little Scullies) Try to forget Soy Sause (sonja) and all the every things that she's done in Home Ec. And all the dirty tricks we've played on her, boy! That was really fun. Don't forget "Brenny" and all her old saying. Lincoln remember Lee, but for goodness sake remember me!

Americans are constantly on the go. Proud of their American heritage they have marched forward to combat oppressors of men, diseases and ignorance. With man's desire to be free from strife came higher living standards and the need for educating the masses. Today every field of specialized education sought by the people is added to our schools' growing curriculum. Satisfied with the results of teaching efforts, our nation is steadily moving ahead.

For a good kid stay that way.

Superintendent J. John Halverson

Administrators Guide

On Superintendent J. John Halverson's competent shoulders rests the great task of administering the affairs of the entire Albert Lea school system. He is one of the main links that connect the school and the community.

Every day is a busy day for Superintendent Halverson. Besides his duties and meetings in regard to the education of the youth of Albert Lea, he is active in many activities other than those pertaining to school. Rotary Club takes up much of his time as do many outdoor activities, such as hunting, fishing and gardening.

The school board and superintendent work hand in hand. They hold regular meetings together to discuss various problems and issues, which they must handle, that invariably arise.

Nineteen hundred fifty-three is the first year that has seen a woman, who is Mrs. Leslie Hellie, elected to a school board post.

Members of this board are elected for three years with two members coming up for election each year.

"BOARD MEETING TODAY!" is the thought echoing through the minds of the school board members as they gather for an inspiring meeting. Marion Grotenhuis, Dr. L. E. Steiner, J. John Halverson, Lawrence Allen, Y. H. Hanson, Joseph Gunderson and Mrs. L. Hellie.

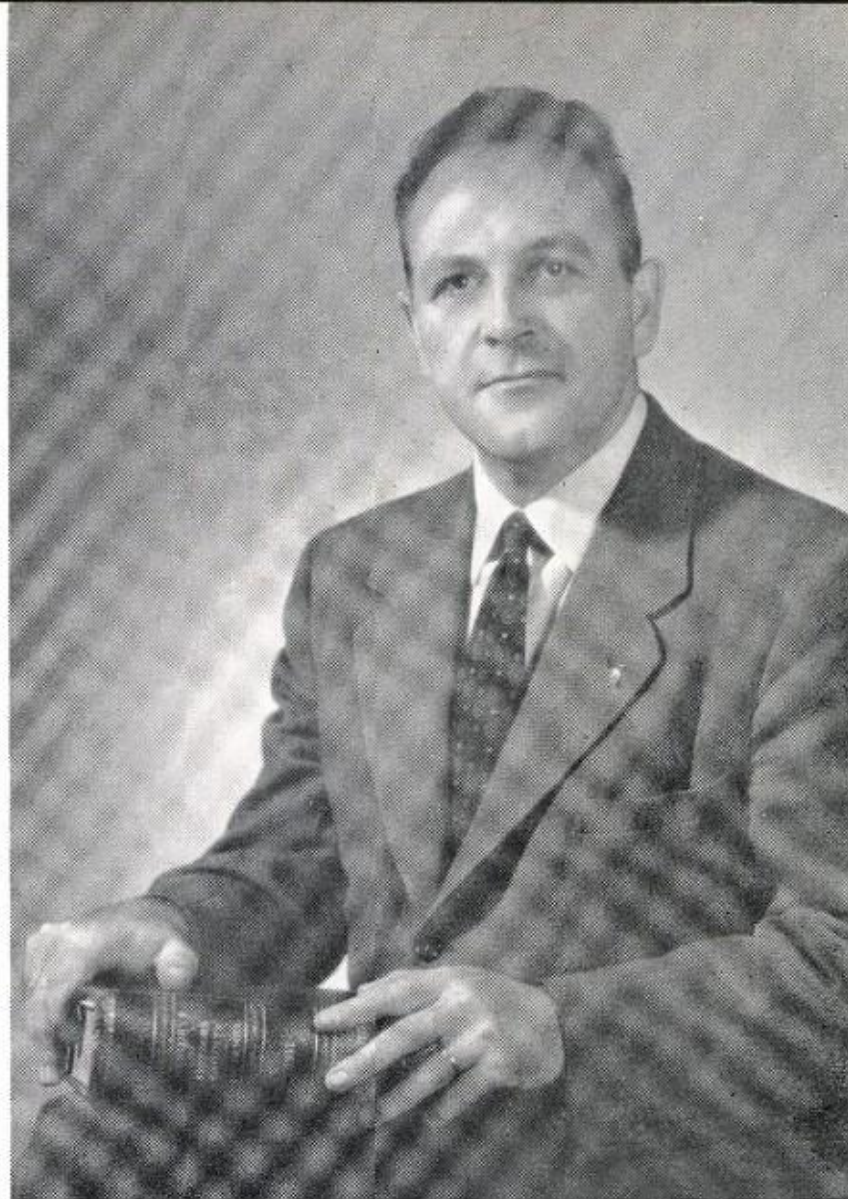

and Prepare Students

Sympathetic guidance is an important function of any dynamic education system. Ultimate success in a field of endeavor depends upon maximum use of the pupil's potential abilities.

To direct the general nature of the learning environment and to prepare the students for graduation and the future is the main objective of senior high principal, Mr. Louis Adolphsen.

Setting up an efficient school program and guiding pupils in choosing their course of study are some of the many tasks of Mr. Vermund Andersen, junior high principal.

Miss Alice Zeman, secretary to Mr. Adolphsen, keeps the academic and financial records of senior high, while Miss Carol Higbee, secretary to Mr. Andersen, compiles this data for junior high. Keeping the books for the school system up to date is the duty of master bookkeeper Miss Ann Carney. Secretary to Mr. Halverson, superintendent of schools, is Miss Irene Phillips. Miss Gretchen Anderson is a supplemental aid to Mrs. Sund, while Mrs. Margaret Shea acts as secretary for vocational agriculture.

"OUR GAL FRIDAY!" could easily be the exclamation of the administrators as they survey the enormous volume of work performed by their secretaries: Ann Carney, Carol Higbee, Irene Phillips and Alice Zeman. Not pictured: Gretchen Anderson and Mrs. Margaret Shea.

Practical application of English is the result of grammar, literature appreciation and other phases of English absorbed in high school.

With English as a foundation, the young men and women of today are learning the art of expressing themselves clearly both in speech and written material. Because of its great importance concerning everyday life, English is a compulsory course for all students.

English is an important method of communication; thus usage, capitalization, punctuation and vocabulary are vital assets to everyone. A knowledge of governmental proceedings and parliamentary procedure also characterizes the course.

American and English literature are studied for the purpose of acquainting the pupil with various methods of expressing ideas, dreams and convictions.

One of the highlights of poetry studied while a senior is "Macbeth," written by William Shakespeare. Memorizing poetic sonnets proves taxing to many a senior's brain as does the spelling of "harder" words.

Learning about the library arrangements and filings of books, magazines and pamphlets enables each student to locate any article rapidly. A fixed number of books to read is a requirement in some classes.

Why study English? Because English is one of the main requirements for success.

and Build Sounder History Foundations

History plays a major part in our educational curriculum. It acquaints us with what is happening in the world today and what happened in the world of yesterday.

Economics is one of the three principal parts covered in the social science course. All seniors were called upon to trace their family trees back at least five generations while they studied sociology. Learning the fundamentals of our government was also included in this course. All seniors are required to take social science. While studying the different sections, the students toured many factories and business places in town.

American history, the study of our country, is required for all juniors. World history, the study of the pasts of other countries, and world affairs are available for all students who wish to secure a more substantial background.

Junior high students are also given courses in social science. In this course, they learn to improve themselves to become better American citizens. Ninth graders start preparing for their future when they study a short course on vocations. All eighth grade students also study about our nation's history.

Among many other things, the school furnishes such newspapers as the "Our Times," "Current Events," "Junior Scholastic" and "American Observer," to keep the students of junior and senior high informed on current news happenings in the world.

Math and Science Prove

The study of mathematics includes a variety of courses offered to every senior high student. These consist of plane geometry, solid geometry, advanced algebra, plane trigonometry and general mathematics.

Plane geometry is designed for sophomores who wish to increase their algebraic ability and prepare for solid geometry and trigonometry in their senior year. The student benefits greatly in the process of logical thinking.

Solid geometry, an elective for seniors, requires only one-half year to complete. It is an absolute pre-requisite for engineering courses.

Advanced algebra's main characteristic is learning to solve angular problems together with skill in mechanical manipulation.

Another half-year course is plane trigonometry. The practical aspect rather than the theoretical is considered largely in this course.

Problems directly affecting each student is the objective of general mathematics. Topics covered include installment buying, insurance and taxation.

SOLVING THE MYSTERIES of a three-way equation with the aid of this device designed and constructed by Hans Wong are Pat Madden and Hans Wong with the assistance of Miss Schottler.

Essential In Modern Life

Science, considered a fundamental in a student's curriculum, is offered to every pupil in the ninth grade and senior high school.

Ninth grade general science provides background for study in biology, physics and chemistry. Such subjects as light, heat, sound and electricity are treated in the course.

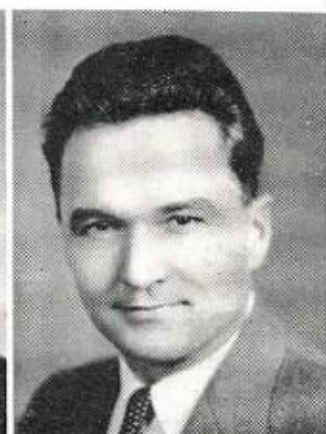

Although frogs, worms and dissection do not appeal to some pupils, all sophomores must take a biology course. As you pass the biology lab, it is not unusual to see students working at microscopes or on a test which requires that they know the fundamentals of plant and animal life. Plant and animal phyla must be memorized and the life functions learned thoroughly by sophomores.

Learning the laws of simple machines and electricity and the uses to which they are put in the modern world are only two of the tasks that junior class physicists are trying to complete.

To complete their high school science studies, seniors strive to learn formulas and put them to practical use in chemistry lab sessions. Studying composition of matter and the atomic theory are both an important part of chemistry.

Home economics is made possible to develop a knowledge of home and family life and to establish a place in the future as successful homemakers and members of society.

The projects for this year included clothing construction, nutrition, personal grooming, planning and preparation of meals, buying and budgeting of foods, the care and use of electric appliances and child care.

The main objectives of the shop classes are to give the boys experience which will fit their individual future needs. Through the student's knowledge, skills, attitudes and accomplishments, he will learn appreciation of the coming future.

The architectural drawing class planned and constructed a scale model of a house.

Metal shop classes made such things as tin cups, cookie cutters, utility boxes, scoops and waste paper baskets. The pupils in wood shop constructed desks, end tables, coffee tables, chest of drawers and book racks. To finish their products they used wood stains and bleaches.

Electricity classes studied the fundamentals of radios, amplifiers and constructed radio sets.

Yield Satisfying Lives

Through the broad field of fine arts, one covers various spheres from tones to designs. The purpose of art is to meet human needs in the best possible ways.

Latin, instructed by Miss Clara Berdan with French and Spanish taught by Miss Ruth Bauer, made the student's view of his own language more of an objective, thus building linguistic powers which is one of the most universal objectives.

Expressing themselves through art work, the students are assisted by Miss Rita Simon and Mr. Edward Barrows to value their work in creating, through use of color, space and lines. A winter and a spring art exhibit were held during the year to develop public interest.

In instrument and song, Mr. L. J. Emmons, Mr. Lester Striemer and Mr. Robert L. Myers devoted their experience to bringing about harmony and tune. Several concerts were produced to display the effects. Selected musicians journeyed to a music festival at Owatonna.

Among the shelves of the library were found knowledge and pleasure in the choices of books. Helping in seeking them were the librarians, Miss Carol Eastwold and Mr. Francis Blonigan.

As the students participated in and moved through the many phases of physical education, they realized that they were learning character traits needed for later life plus the value of exercise, relaxation and physical fitness.

A renewal of interest in tumbling made it the highlight for the girls. Basketball was high on the list with volleyball, ping pong, shuffleboard and rhythms coming in close behind as the other major activities of the year.

Boys also played basketball and volleyball, wrestled, tumbled and competed in track events and field relays. The intramural program was again strong with tournaments in football and basketball being played.

Both boys and girls enjoyed the early spring weather by moving outside for their gym classes. Kittenball was played by all and touch football and field soccer were played by the boys and girls, respectively. Many students used the Morin Park tennis courts in their free hours to burn off some of their pent up energy.

New to the department this year was the organization of a Girls' Bowling League, by those who were interested under G.A.A. direction.

First aid classes, taught by Miss Lois Spencer and Mr. Paul Wilke, were required of all juniors and seniors. They learned the fundamentals of bandaging and aiding victims of the common injuries and afflictions in emergencies.

"ONE-TWO-THREE-FOUR!" resounds through the girls' gymnasium as Miss Spencer's fourth hour gym class demonstrates the jumping jack.

Calisthenics is one of the major factors employed in the process of correct body development of the girls.

Diversified Business Courses Offer Specialized Training

Educating students for better business and agriculture after they are graduated plays an important part in our high school education.

This year the new business course, business machines, was introduced. It is taught by Mr. Arthur Anthony. The dictaphone, mimeograph and the time clock are some machines the students learn how to operate.

Typing is offered as early as the tenth grade. Bookkeeping is offered to any junior or senior who wishes to work with figures.

Shorthand is a two year course for students in their junior and senior years. Learning by practical application is the main goal of the office practice course.

Students who work in the afternoon at jobs they plan to work at after they are graduated, take the diversified course. They learn first hand by working at concerns in town.

In the first year agriculture course, the boys learn about domestic animals. Learning about the feeding and the managing of the mature animal and how to improve soil and crops begins in the second year.

The F.F.A. boys study mostly about farm management in their third year. Besides keeping records, they judge their animals throughout the three year course.

"PROMPTNESS RATES A JOB," explains Mr. Anthony to Rose-lyn Nelson and Bonnie Dirksen as they punch the new time clock in business machines class.

KEEPING TAB of students who are absent or tardy is the big job undertaken by Miss Gammel.

"HIGH-PITCHED NOISES" are being heard by Louise Jensen as Mrs. Sund conducts the traditional ear test.

Various Agencies Propel

As the year moves along Miss Alice Gammel has the task of recording the attendance for senior high. She also issues admits to class and special excuses during the day. In addition to this, Miss Gammel advises the sophomores in their activity schedule.

Perfect health for every student is the goal of Mrs. Helen Sund, school nurse, in this busy world where there are so many dreaded diseases. Giving eye and ear tests are some of the ways in which she tries to safeguard the health of every student.

When students need assistance in determining the vocation best suited to them, the guidance committee is able and willing to lend a helping hand. They offer advice to seniors making their decision between college or some other field of endeavor. The committee helps students to plan their courses in high school to prepare them for a place in the fast moving cycle of this busy world. A special project of the vocation committee is the annual Career and College Day in the fall.

In addition to the vocational guidance committee, there are also two other branches of the guidance department. The testing committee gives various tests throughout high school to help them choose a desirable vocation and the scholarship committee aids students in acquainting them with and applying for scholarships.

Acting as chairman of the guidance department's fifteen members is Miss Anne Anderson while Miss Edith Olson is secretary for the group.

LENDING A HELPING HAND to students who seek help in planning their curriculum are: FIRST ROW: Schottler, A. Anderson and E. Olson.

SECOND ROW: Woods, Thompson, Nelson and Strierner. THIRD ROW: Volkman, Tunturi and Paulson.

ALHS Students

NOURISHING VICTUALS are the products of the ambitious cafeteria staff. FIRST ROW: Mrs. Wallin, Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mrs. Alice Anderson and Mrs. A. L. Hove. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Crynes, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Lair, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. Loulla Greengo.

Feeding hungry students and faculty is no easy job for the cafeteria staff. Preparing and serving nourishing yet well-balanced meals is a task done with a smile.

Mrs. Mabel Crynes, cafeteria supervisor with her helpers, not only feed the junior high at 11:30 and the senior high at 12:30, but they provide lunches for the grade school children as well. It is a big job, but one that is well done.

All these staffs work together to promote an even running school, shining with cleanliness which makes every student proud of Albert Lea High School.

Cafeteria, janitor, fireman and engineering staffs play an important role in the life of the school. Little is said about this group, however important their job.

Efficiency is the motto of the maintenance staff of the junior and senior high. Janitors and engineers make up this staff. They are responsible for replacement of broken fixtures, sweeping floors and washing boards.

Maintaining the school's heating system as well as everything from unlocking auditorium doors to fixing the lockers is the job of the diligent janitors and night watchmen on the staff.

TOURISTS

Today the American school does more for the individual than it ever has before. Each student is guided along courses that will be helpful to him when he enters the fast moving, quick thinking, progressive world. Early American schools were founded on solid liberal arts subjects; however, growing industries and larger cities created a necessity for "social adjustment" and "experience" to be rounded into the curriculum. Students embarking upon a career command attention in their field due to subjects of fine quality and high standards learned in high school.

"READ THE ANNOUNCEMENT on the first floor bulletin board" is a common expression around ALHS. The latest in school and community activities is sure to turn up there. Bill Sorenson points out the advantages of one of the senior scholarships to Lyle Bighley, Verdelle Brand, Judy Dusek and Rhonda Bussman.

COLLEGE DAYS are planned by Romelle Dillavou, JoAnn Quam, Janet Schoenrock and Joyce Pleiss at Career Day.

Under the guidance of Miss Florence Schottler, class adviser, the senior executive council planned the main senior activities of the year. The council consisted of the class officers and four classmates chosen by them shortly after the class elections in the fall.

The first responsibility of the council was the senior breakfast, held the morning before Christmas vacation. Jennelly Ingvaldson was chairman of the project. Later she won an Oscar for her outstanding job. The council planned for Honor Night, Baccalaureate and Commencement. Selecting graduation announcements was also one of their duties.

To help students gain a better understanding of different career possibilities and acquainting them with various institutions of higher education, a joint committee from the Kiwanis Service Organization and the faculty planned for Career Day, November 30. Many colleges and universities sent representatives to confer with the students. At an evening session, men and women from many different jobs and professions met with interested students and their parents to discuss opportunities in their respective field.

Honor, scholarship, courage, leadership and service are the qualities necessary to be eligible for the American Legion Auxiliary award. This award is presented to two students each year in reward for their ability as good citizens. It was given to them on Honor Day, which was held on May 28.

Rating the honor of being the most outstanding citizen of the year, Connie Boyd was chosen for the annual Daughters of the American Revolution award. She attended the state convention which was held in Minneapolis for two days in March. While there she toured the Twin Cities and attended a formal banquet. Connie and her mother were entertained at a spring meeting of the local D.A.R. A certificate of award and a good citizenship pin were presented to Connie.

Nine boys were chosen out of the senior class to be representatives at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club. The boys were picked by a joint committee comprised of faculty and Rotary members. The duties of the representatives were to give reports on the happenings at the school and to learn how the Rotary functions.

Chosen because of their outstanding leadership in high school clubs and activities, the delegates were given an opportunity to express their ideas on the accomplishments of the club which they represented.

Qualified to become a member of Who's Who in Co-Curricular are seniors who have rendered outstanding service in co-curricular activities during their sophomore, junior and senior years in high school. How they served, as well as how much time and work they put into their tasks was an important factor contributing to their being chosen by a faculty committee. These eight seniors have been responsible for leading the students as they strived to uphold the school's fine standing.

In the list of possible outside interests sponsored by the school for participation of students are student council, sports, dramatics, music, photography, journalism, class leadership, foreign language clubs, science and service organizations. The fine attitudes developed while engaged in these activities prove the value of participation in them. Who's Who in Co-Curricular is an honor bestowed upon those who have proven themselves most worthy in these fields.

NIGHT OF NIGHTS, the junior-senior prom has arrived. Ready to leave for an evening of dining and dancing in a "Pacific Paradise" are Tom Bates, LeAnn Wicks, Shirley Cox, Bill Bagstad, Dave Sorenson and Pat O'Neal. The prom held April 30 successfully highlighted the year.

"GOT IT OPEN" exclaims Alice Termath, secretary to prom workers Chuck Harty, junior president; Harlan Nelson, vice president and Apryl Tostenson, treasurer.

Greater Achievements Becken Middleclassmen

LEADING THE 1954-55 student council will be Peter Lloyd, president; Audrey Hoyt, secretary; Jane Gulbrandson, treasurer, and Rodger Squires, vice president.

Eagerly climbing the second rung in the senior high ladder, the juniors began the year by electing their class officers. The officers were assisted by Miss Anne Anderson, class adviser.

With appreciated help from Principal Louis Adolphsen, the officers did the preliminary choosing of the '55 class rings. The ring, decided upon by the class members, created an entirely new 3-D effect.

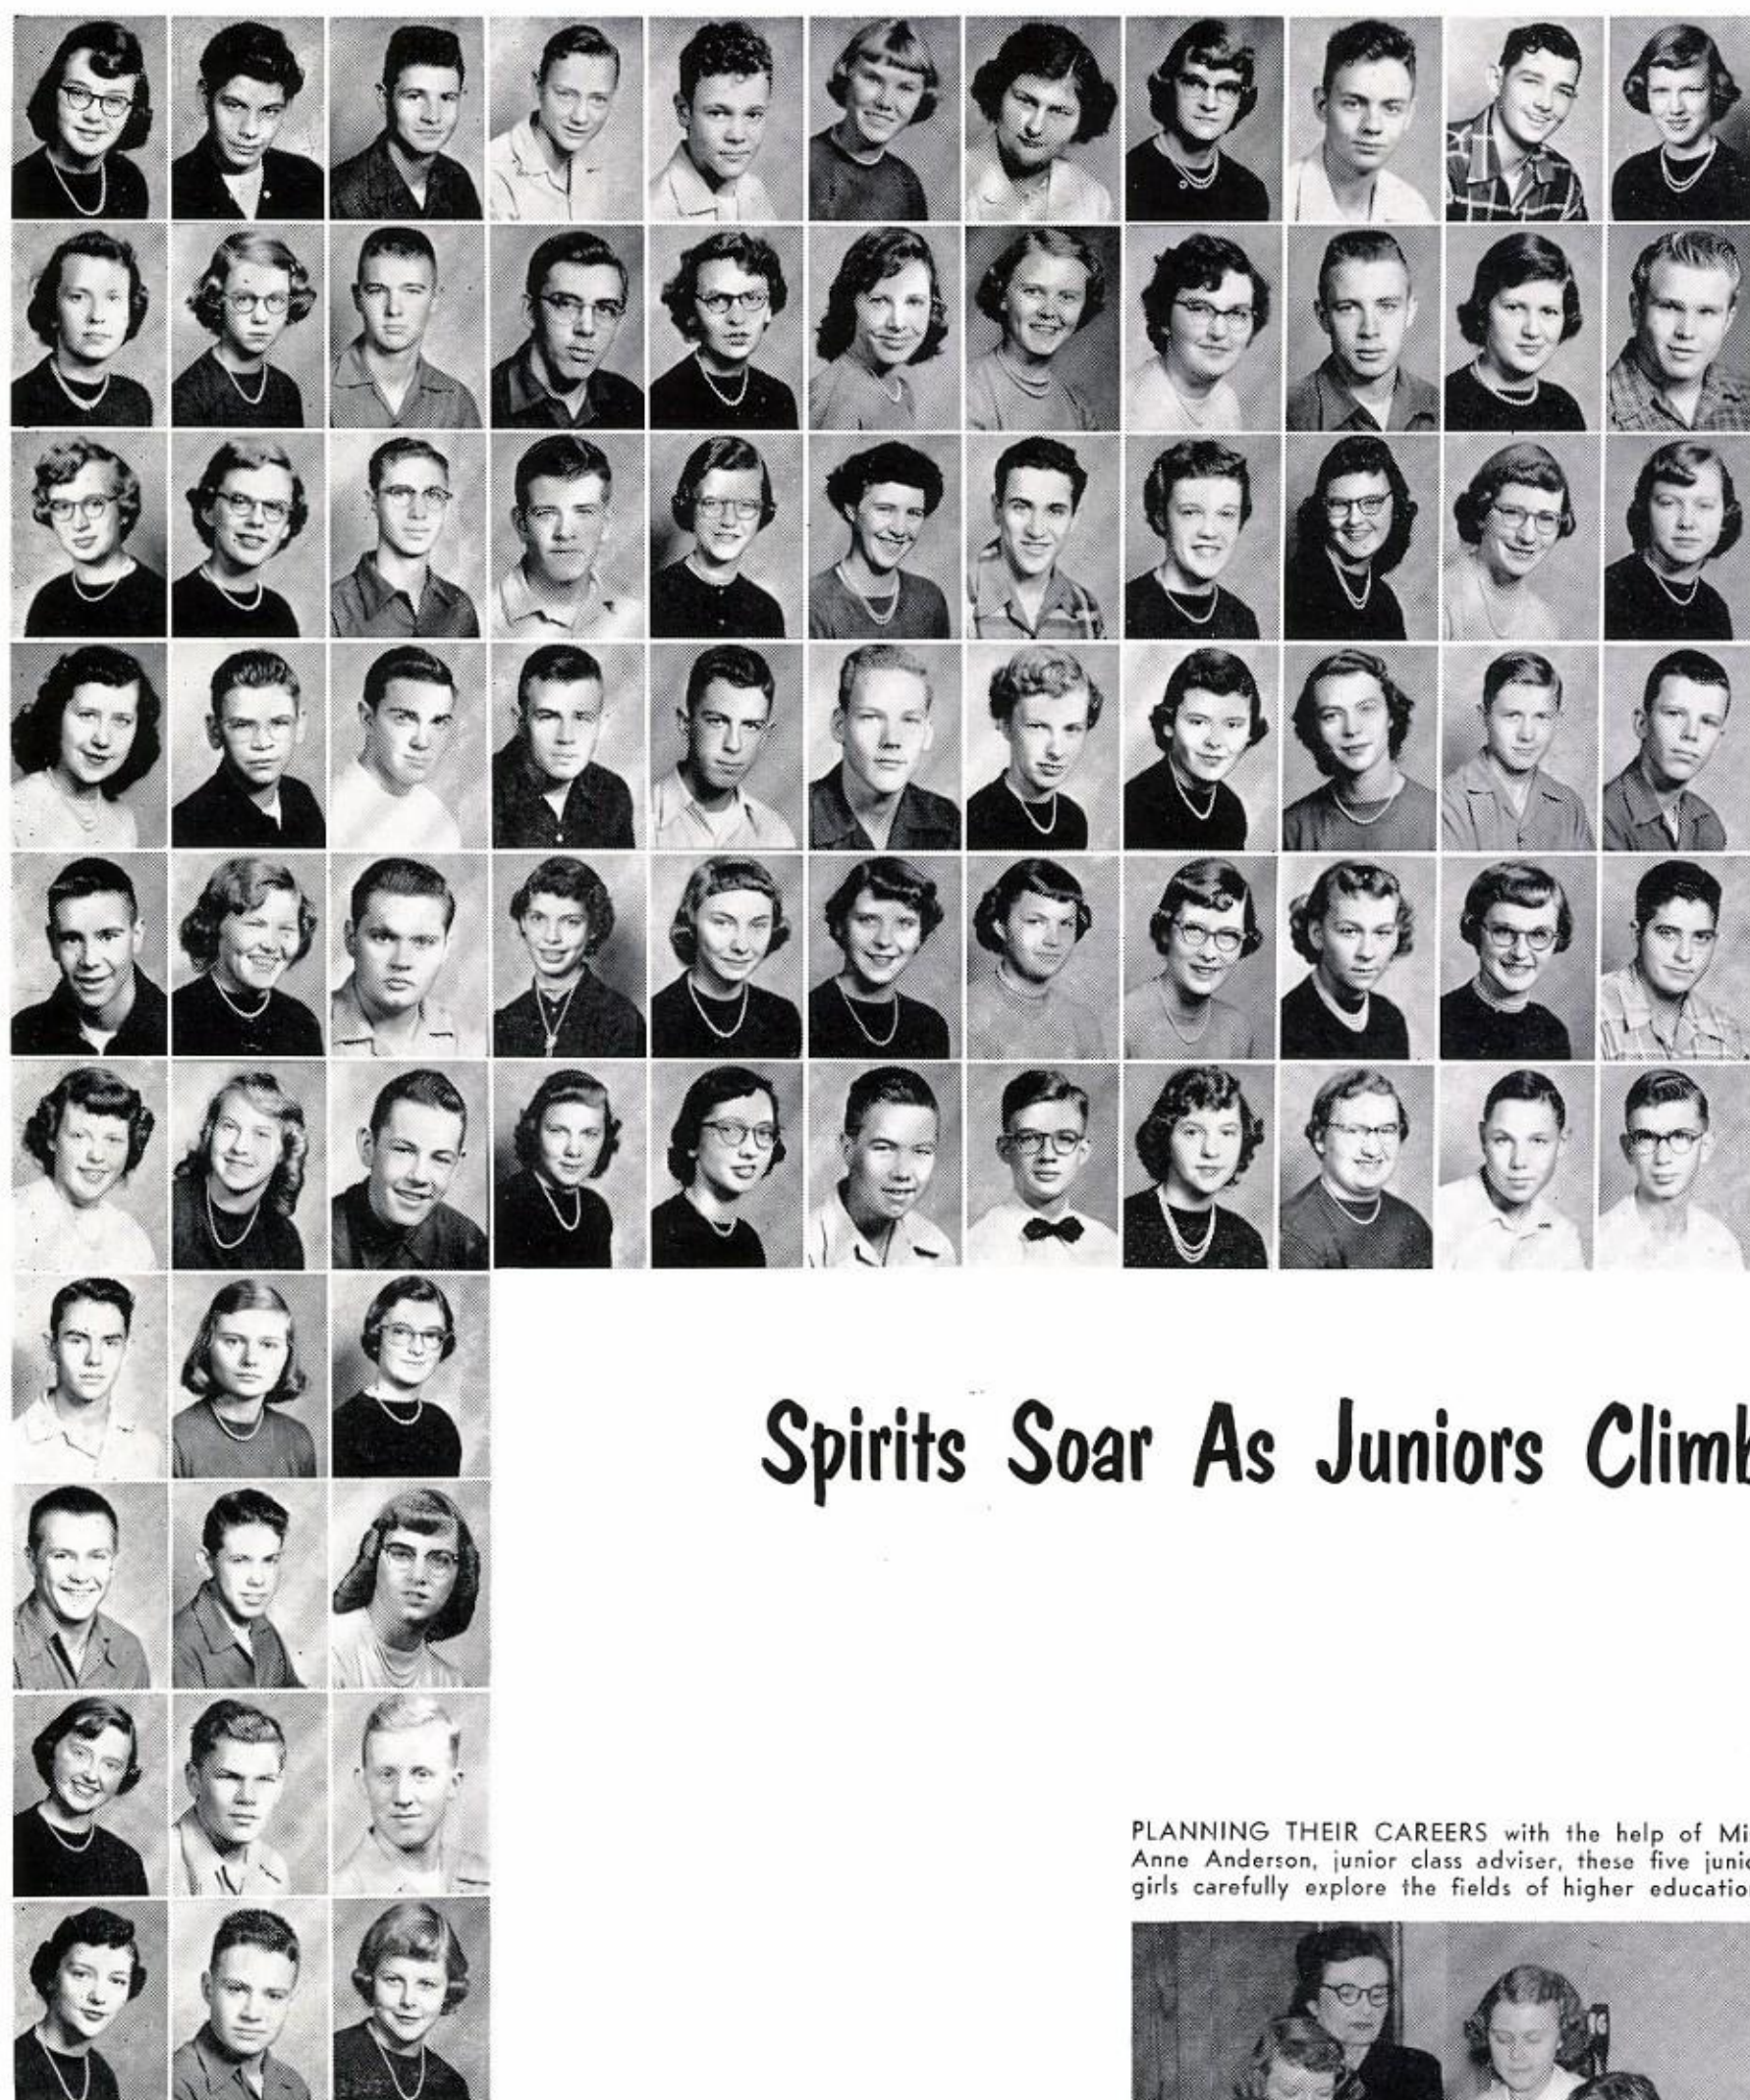

Hi-lighting the year was the junior-senior prom held April 30. Prom-goers danced in a Pacific Paradise to the music of Henry Charles.

The prom was financed through the sale of tickets to the plays, "The Heiress" and "The Silver Whistle".

Helping to make the prom outstanding were the class officers, committee chairmen and Miss Blanche Benson, prom adviser.

Heading the various committees were: Janice Perrin, Roger Squires, John Morrison, Audrey Hoyt, Shirley Larson, Phil Knutson, Jean Berglund, Marcia Brown, Nancy Posthumus, Pete Lloyd, Jim Nelson, Gordon Sprenger, Cynthia Peterson, Julie Jenson, Nancy Skinner, Alan Stoa, Marlys Doppelhammer, Kay Thompson and Alan Madson.

Representing ALHS at Girls' state will be Audrey Hoyt, while Peter Lloyd and Rodger Squires will journey to Minneapolis to attend Boys' state. Jane Gulbrandson will participate in the National Student Council convention.

Sophomores Achieve High Goals In New Atmosphere

Moving into their first year in the senior high the sophomores were anxious to start their duties. Compared to junior high's five subjects, this year they were required to carry only four subjects, leaving more time for co-curricular activities.

Many tenth graders took advantage of co-curricular activities. Drama Club, Science Club, B Chorus, Hi-Teens, Hi-Y and athletics challenged these enthusiastic underclassmen.

One of the first duties confronting every class is the election of officers. The officers under the steedge of Miss Alice Gammel, collected dues of 50 cents from each member. A portion of this money defrayed their class party expenses and granted free admission to the students.

Proving that they would be able to carry on the high school's traditions, the sophomores partied to "Down Beat On Broadway" on February 19.

"BUY A BOOSTER PIN" say Liz Peterson, treasurer and Marilyn Alm, secretary to Ralph Delgado, sophomore president and John Wong, vice president.

Tenth Grade Students To Fields of Higher Learning

During their first year in senior high, sophomores registered for the two coming years. They found that many more subjects and activities would be open to them. Highlighting their sophomore year was the annual party held in February. Several students contributed to the success of the Tiger's Roar and other productions.

"Once and never again" could well be the slogan of young biologists as they tackle their assignments in the biology classes. Offered only in tenth grade, biology provides sophomores with the rare privilege of dissecting crayfish, earthworms and frogs. In addition to this, students learn the history of plants and animals.

BICYCLING IS THE WAY many junior high students supply their transportation to and from school. Before leaving for home, Ronald Teff, Dennis Wehrhan and David Anderson exchange a few parting thoughts, while Mike Peterson and Bob Brabec are just leaving school, preparing to enjoy the warm February weather by a refreshing walk home.

King and Queen of Hearts; Talent Show Festivities, Highlight Year

Suspense and awe filled the high school auditorium as the trumpets blared out to announce the ninth grade King and Queen of Hearts. With a mighty roar, the joyous crowd gladly welcomed James Lair and Nancy Miller as the royal couple. Composing their court were Nancy Polk, Ronnie Mathews, Carol Peterson, Curtis Rietveld, Beverly Knutson and Jerry Nelsen.

Following the crowning, students were invited to attend the sunlight social in the girls' gym, depicting the theme "Hearts Ahoy!" Refreshments were served and music for the afternoon was provided by the Swing Band. Those not wishing to participate in the dance remained in the auditorium for a full length movie, "Bend in the River." Under the supervision of Miss Kathryn Coyne, the coronation surpassed those of previous years.

KING AND QUEEN OF HEARTS Jim Lair and Nancy Miller rule over their subjects at the ninth grade "Hearts Ahoy" social, after being crowned at an assembly in the auditorium.

Active Frosh Enjoy Role of Leaders In Junior High;

Learning from their own mistakes and profiting from those of others, the ninth graders have prepared themselves for the leadership they displayed this past year. For the first time, the students had a chance to choose a subject on their own. Aside from the standard required subjects they had a choice of art, chorus, orchestra, band, homemaking, algebra, general math, industrial arts, Spanish and Latin.

Junior high girls could be heard and seen in the gym every Tuesday afternoon enjoying a game of basketball, soccer, volleyball or some other sports. Under the direction of Miss Clyda Dressen the GAA'ers met weekly to discuss their problems and take part in some game. Sports-minded junior high boys also participated in sports such as basketball, football and wrestling led by the coaches of the various sports.

Anticipate Future Cultivation of Many Hidden Talents

Building character and practicing correct parliamentary procedure are only two of the many purposes of Student Council. Meeting weekly, President Bob Brabec called the meetings to order.

Students discussed problems and suggestions that were brought to the Council by the homeroom representatives.

One of the highlights of the Council this year was two trips to the state capital, one each semester, permitting all Council members to attend.

Another of the projects of Student Council was the annual junior high talent show presented as an auditorium program. Of these acts, the best were selected to participate in the Tiger's Roar. Students chosen to represent junior high were Donald Skoloda and Jolene Mobely.

Presiding over the meetings when the president was absent was Vice President Marlene Bottleson. Secretary and treasurer were Julie Westcott and Gary Blunt, respectively. Mr. Vermund Andersen supervised the meetings.

Three Years of Preparation In Junior High Ends As

UP GO THE STREAMERS. That's what these junior high students see as they put the finishing touches on the decorations for a sunlight social. Onlookers are always impatient for the dance to begin.

Sunlight socials were a main part of the co-curricular activities in junior high. Sponsored by the various homerooms and clubs, these dances served in helping the students to become better acquainted with each other. Many novel themes and ideas were used for the socials as the junior highers danced to the music of the Swing Band or popular records.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Meyers, the junior high choruses took part in the Christmas and spring concerts. The orchestra, led by Mr. Lester Striemer, rendered beautiful music in both public and school concerts. Mr. L. J. Emmons' band also did their part very effectively in many of the concerts in which they took part.

Various plays were presented by the students interested in dramatics. Under the direction of Mr. Wayne Stutelberg, the drama department included in their productions a Thanksgiving play, a skit for the junior high talent show, three radio plays for American Education Week, "Four On A Heath," by Foster Fitz-Simmons and "The Sister McIntosh," by Richard Corson.

Weekly homeroom meetings were held at 9:10 A.M. on Wednesdays to teach the students parliamentary procedure. At these meetings the students discussed many problems that arose during the previous week. Presiding over the meetings were the homeroom officers. Quite frequently assembly programs were presented during this period.

Students also participated in other clubs and activities and rendered their services to make all undertakings successful.

Ninth Graders Enter Sophomore Class In Senior High

Gaining new friends and learning better social standards are but two of the many advantages of junior high. It also serves as a preparation and introduction to senior high and college. Through participation of co-curricular activities, students learn better cooperation in working with others. An intra-mural program has been set up for the ninth grade boys. Expansion of junior high athletics is in the near future.

Report cards were issued every nine weeks. This system enables students to build up their marks and strive to make the honor roll. Most students, at one time or another, strive to achieve this goal. Many have upheld their high standards through every grade. Outstanding in art, junior high students have displayed their talents to the public by art exhibits that are held bi-annually.

Leadership Qualities Instilled In Eighth Grade Students

Training received in seventh grade has been a great help to the eighth graders in their second year in junior high. During the past year these energetic students have been kept busy with their studies and co-curricular activities. Subjects offered to the eighth graders this year are preparing them for next year. The middleclassmen will then be ready to take over their new duties as leaders of the junior high.

Again this year the eighth grade boasts the smallest class in junior high with an enrollment of 280 students. The total number of students in junior high was 966, an increase of 29 pupils. Due to high enrollment the students had to put up with crowded conditions that might have caused great confusion. These conditions were overcome, however, through the full cooperation of the student body.

Will Prove To Be Very Helpful In the Coming Year

Working for better congruence is the chief aim of the junior high students. This year two separate service clubs were organized, one for girls and the other for boys. Miss Millie Holm and Mr. Lou Olson served as leaders for the respective clubs. Packing boxes and sending them to the needy children in foreign countries was the major project of the Junior Red Cross. Again this year, Miss Lucy Houlihan capably served as adviser.

Entering the teaching staff this year were Miss Grace Thayer, home economics instructor, Miss Rita Simon, art instructor, and Mrs. Glen Ives, who has been substituting for Miss Evelyn Bennett, whose absence is due to illness. Acting as counselors to the ninth, eighth and seventh grade classes were Miss Virginia Nelson, Mr. Hollace Sandholm, Miss Marjorie Hanson and Miss Mary Mettam, respectively.

Seventh Graders Discover and Learn Different Ideas

Subjects offered to the seventh graders are English, mathematics, social, art, home economics and wood shop. From these subjects each student has gained certain knowledge that will help them not only to live with and get along with other students, but also to be successful in the world. When they enter eighth grade next year they will gain new privileges, but they will also have new responsibilities.

With the help of their teachers and counselors the seventh graders have become more use to life in junior high. As the year progressed, the bewilderment they felt at first gradually wore off and they became better acquainted with their fellow students. Aside from their regular school work these energetic seventh graders have found time to participate in co-curricular activities such as Homecoming and the junior high sunlight socials.

While They Add To Previously Acquired Knowledge

Building a foundation for future years, seventh graders are preparing to uphold the high standards of the school, not only in classes, but also through Student Council, Junior Red Cross, GAA, service clubs, Drama Club and other various organizations. This is their first opportunity to work harmoniously with the faculty and fellow students. Miss Mary Mettam serves as seventh grade adviser.

By learning to accept criticism, students acquire a sense of responsibility and gain maturity.

Serving as apprentices, seventh graders learn the fundamentals that will later aid them in the production of the Tiger's Roar and the coronation of their Homecoming queen; in general the traditions of our school will be carried out by these young adults.

ACTIVITIES

Motivated by intelligence, mankind seeks inspiring experiences that are challenging. Today America has faith in the avocations its youth are choosing. Participants are becoming more practical; they seek clubs that directly involve subjects learned in school. Through the students' wise use of leisure time, good behavior patterns are developed. Clubs and organizations are a result of a stimulated education.

Democracy Rules; Council

With the rap of the gavel, Student Council activities commenced and echoed throughout the school year. To organize student opinion, each homeroom elected a representative whose duty was to meet with the council once every week. The voice of the students was related at these meetings and government was established with the assistance of Mr. Victor Stensrud, adviser.

Behind the scenes of almost every school affair, the Student Council financed the Swing Band, planned pep assemblies, scheduled dances, held elections, sold activity calendars and raised money for the benefit of the school. Two Oscar awards were given each month to a boy and a girl who had done an outstanding job in one specific field of work.

Homecoming was one of the first projects on the council's agenda. Using the slogan, "Tigerize the Tonna-ites," the enthusiastic group staged the parade, made a huge bonfire, sold booster pins and held a dance, decorated by the Hi-Teeners, following the football game. The choosing of queen candidates and the coronation of the 1953 Homecoming Queen were also handled through the council.

OFFICIATING over the school's governmental body were the Student Council officers, Connie Boyd, secretary; Mike Jordan, vice president; Bill Matthies, president and Arlene Peterson, treasurer.

Establishes Government

"Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" was the theme of the '54 Tiger's Roar, staged on January 29 and February 1. This student variety show was a box office sell-out, drawing a record crowd for both performances. Produced and directed by students, the presentation was the council's number one money-making project. Assuming the leadership responsibilities of the "Roar" were Mike Jordan, producer; Mary Sue Speltz, director; Virginia Narverud, assistant director; Jack Bergen, script writer and senior highers who served as committee heads.

To continue movement of the high school's rising standards, representatives attended various conventions and brought back democratic ideas for solving problems. As president and vice president, Bill Matthies and Mike Jordan were entitled to attend Boys' State in St. Paul. At that conference, Bill was chosen to represent Minnesota at Boys' Nation in Washington, D. C. Secretary Connie Boyd went to Girls' State and Treasurer Arlene Peterson attended the National Convention of Student Councils in Portland, Oregon. Winona was the destination of councilmen in November when they journeyed to the Big Nine Convention. Karen Peterson and Arlene Peterson were Albert Lea delegates to the state meeting.

Council Adopts Policies To Guide and Govern Students

Assuming the responsibilities of leading the junior high activities for the '53-'54 school year were the Student Council officers. They began their assigned duties October 6 at the first council meeting.

Each homeroom started the semester by electing a homeroom president who also served as Student Council representative. These students met every Tuesday, second hour, in room 105 with the four officers and Mr. Vermund Andersen, council adviser.

At the end of the first semester, the representatives were changed. This permitted a larger percentage of seventh, eighth and ninth graders to participate in student run government.

To stimulate junior high student social life, the council sponsored the first sunlight social, "Autumn Capers," which was held October 14 in the girls' gym. Music was furnished by the Swing Band. These socials are held about once a month and are sponsored by various junior high homerooms and organizations.

The annual project of purchasing and decorating the junior high Christmas trees on the first and second floors, was also undertaken by the Student Council.

To educate its members in methods of government, the Student Council inaugurated a special excursion to the Twin Cities, October 21.

The one day trip to Minneapolis and St. Paul proved both interesting and educational. The members of the council visited the Capitol, the Historical Society, the Minneapolis Star and Tribune Newspaper, Gold Medal Flour Mills and the Wold-Chamberlain airfield.

A major drive to raise money for the fight against polio, cancer, heart disease and tuberculosis was supervised by the council. The annual "Have-A-Heart" charity drive ran during the week of February 22-26. As in past years a chart, bearing each homeroom number, was made to record the progress of the campaign and to increase competition between the rooms.

In an attempt to raise needed funds, the junior high council launched a new project by selling emblems imprinted with Albert Lea Junior High.

Climaxing the year's council activities was the annual spring banquet. The first and second semester council representatives and the officers participated in this final event.

Senior Band Exhibited Its Mastery Over Music of All

During the first hour of each day, strains of music can be heard from the senior band as they practice vigorously under the direction of Mr. L. J. Emmons. The band is considered an outstanding asset to the school and community, as it contributes its music to the county fair and summer concerts each year.

Senior band members have been working especially hard this year, putting on their annual concerts and preparing for their trip to Winnipeg in the spring.

Approximately 90 people will go on this trip, which will be June 7-12. The money from the spring concert and other money-raising projects will finance the tour.

Spectators will always remember the spectacular marching exhibitions performed by the band at the school football games and in the city's parades.

Owatonna was the scene of the Select Music Festival this year. Representing ALHS were the most talented members of band, orchestra and chorus. The band also journeyed with other music groups to the spring Music Festival held in Austin, May 7.

Taking over the duties of president and vice president of the band were Herb Brand and Al Madson, respectively. Among Nancy Quiggle's duties as secretary was the daily task of taking attendance.

Enthusiasm and Talent Mark Junior Band Performances

Every day third hour, the lusty rousing marches of Sousa or the gentle refrains of Beethoven could be heard coming from the band room. In this room, the 100 junior band members happily displayed their talents on various musical instruments.

Tackling the big problem of preparing themselves for entrance into senior band, these junior band members diligently practiced, under the capable direction of Mr. L. J. Emmons.

Various marching maneuvers and formations were executed by the band when it played for football games. The band also played for the Fairmont basketball game.

The white uniformed junior musicians, led by skilled majorettes, marched in the Homecoming and Decoration Day parades. The band entered another field of entertaining when it played for the visiting seniors at Career Day, November 30.

As a fitting tribute, the young players appeared in the annual Spring Concert, presented April 27. The band shared top billing with the senior and grade school bands.

Membership in the junior high band is open to any seventh, eighth or ninth grader interested in and able to play a musical instrument.

Orchestras Display Talents At Assemblies and Concerts

Senior orchestra members display their talents in concerts and out-of-state tours. They also provide the background music for plays, Baccalaureate services and Commencement. The orchestra played at Osage and Charles City on its annual concert tour in February.

In addition to regular rehearsals, 13 members of the junior and senior orchestras have formed a co-curricular musical group known as the String Choir. This group holds rehearsals once a week. During the holidays they made appearances at club meetings throughout the city. Members agree that the enjoyment gained from music is sufficient recompense for the hours spent in diligent study and practice.

Enterprising young musicians who are members of the junior high orchestra are looking forward to the time when they will advance to the senior orchestra. These students have shown outstanding talent during the past year and have appeared in several concerts along with the senior high orchestra and the grade school group.

Membership in the junior orchestra is an important step in the musical education of the student. This education began in the grade school. Upon advancing to the junior orchestra, the students become acquainted with classical music and complicated rhythms, all of which will prepare them for the highest step in their musical career; membership in the senior high orchestra.

Aiming For Perfection, A Choristers Gain Knowledge In

Boasting a 160 voice A chorus, Mr. Robert Myers, director, began the year by preparing the chorus members for the fall concert. They, as usual, gave a brilliant performance, but as the school year progressed they surpassed this "first showing."

Immediately following the autumn program, the group began to practice diligently for Christmas. This meant a concert at the Hotel Albert for the Service Club and also two performances in the high school auditorium, one of these in the evening for the adults and another in the afternoon for the student body. Many alumni attended the afternoon program.

A slight slack in pep and vigor seemed evident after the Yule season, but the choristers livened up when they began working on music for the Select Music Festival in Owatonna.

Music Appreciation, Vocal Skills and Techniques

Very proud of their invitation the A Chorus began work on an out-of-town concert. The occasion was the opening of the new Minnesota Vocational Extension School in Waseca. Using elimination tryouts Mr. Myers took 70 members.

Mr. Willey, former senior high principal, invited the entire group to Wayzata where he is now principal. This trip made in the spring was one of the highlights of the year.

Singing at their own Commencement was a pleasure to the seniors. A Chorus came to its grande finale for 1953-54.

Experience in A Chorus is invaluable to the students in their post graduate years. Learning to read music, gaining a sense of rhythm and voice blending are only a few of the qualities gained. Students accompanied the chorus at the piano various times when it was necessary.

SELECT MUSICIANS Virginia Narverud, Connie Boyd, Susan Nelson, David Larson, Jerry Throlson and Dick Wulff receive Mr. Myers' orders.

BLENDING THEIR VOICES in perfect harmony were the select group called the Madrigal Singers. FIRST ROW: Person, Skinner, Hoogland, Narverud, Burnett, Sims, Boyd, Schneider, Benson. SECOND ROW: E. Jensen, Waterman, Wall, Emmons, Rullestad, Reynen, Vandegriff, Juers, Berglund, S. Nelson, Egertson. THIRD ROW: Glenn,

B Chorus Shows Versatility; Madrigal Captivates Crowds

To have two performances in a day wasn't a bit unusual during the Christmas season for the hard-working, music-loving Madrigal singers.

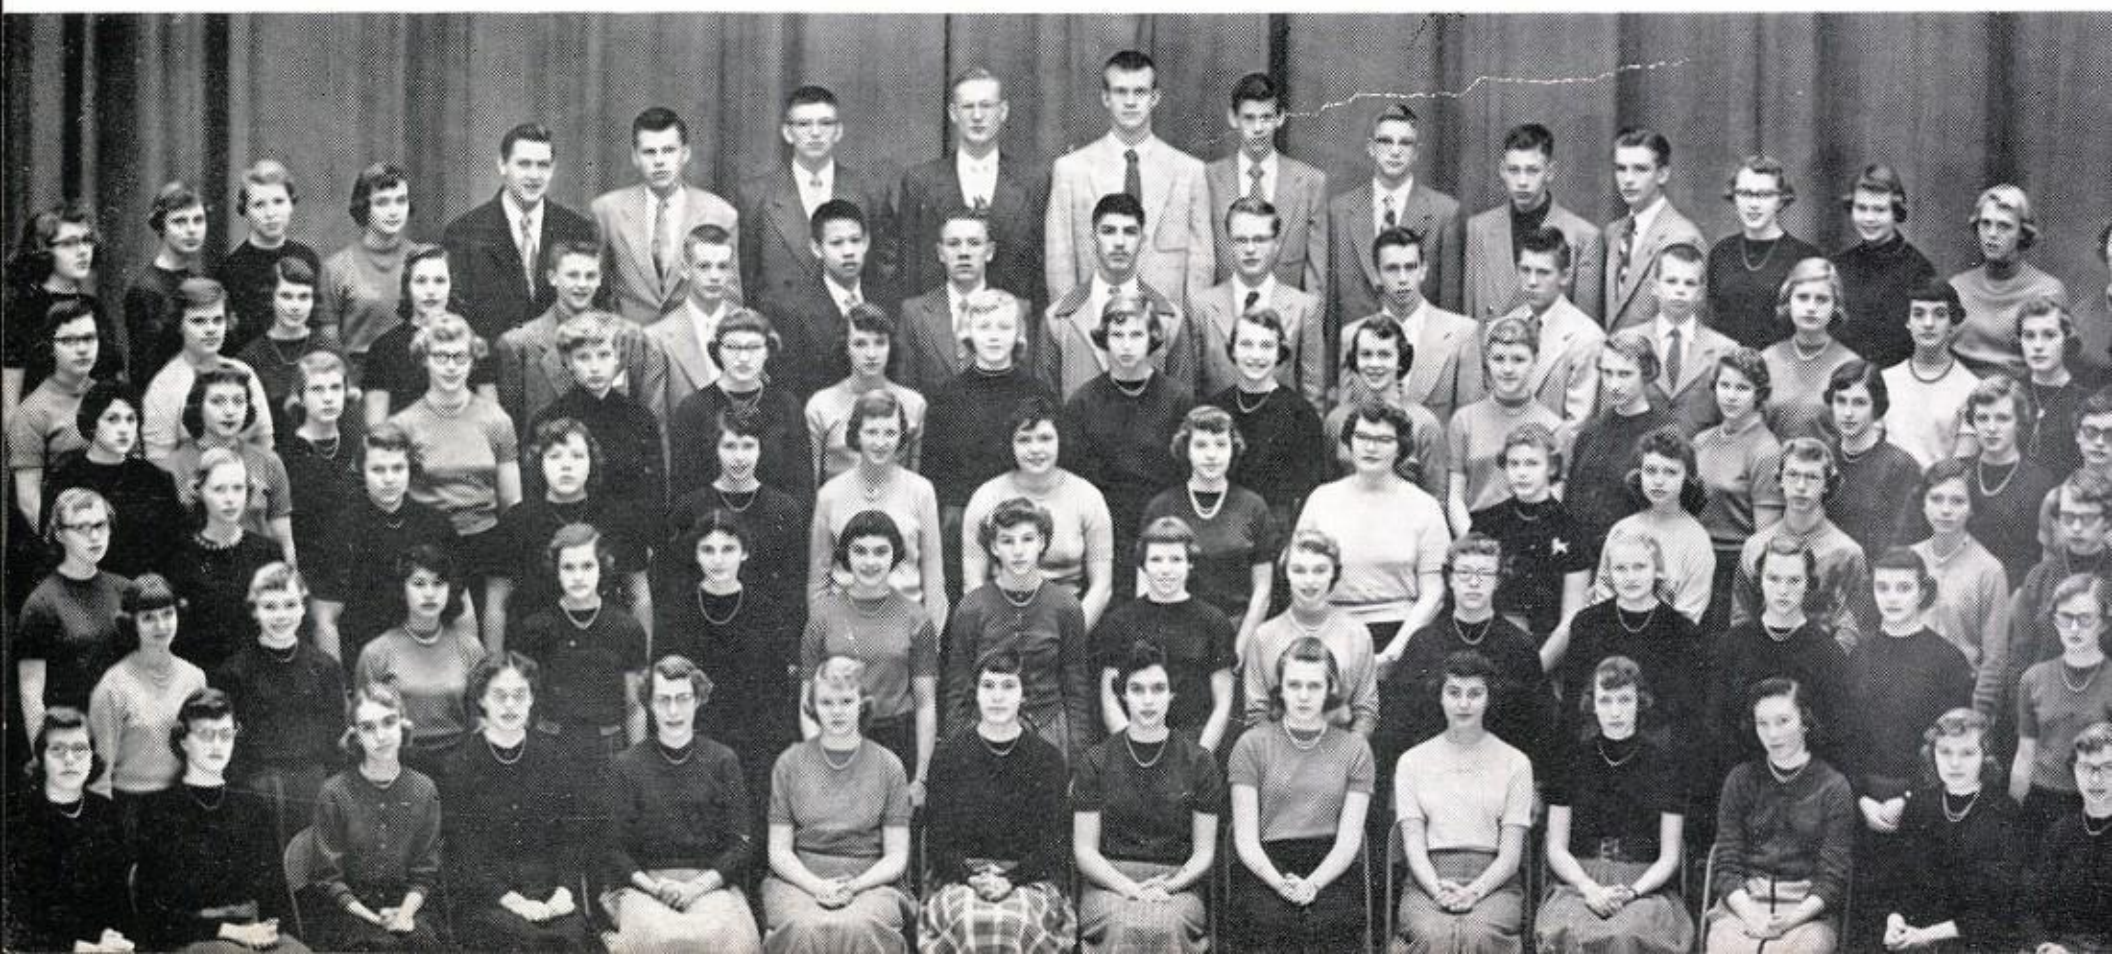

This group, numbering forty, is but a small portion of the A chorus. Its members give numerous performances for various clubs and organizations in and around Albert Lea.

Under the hot, blinding lights in Austin's television studio, the Madrigal singers experienced their TV debut. Excitement reigned as their voices and images were transmitted by this new median of communication.

Future Madrigal songsters are to be found in the B chorus, once an all girl group but now boasting boys. Both are very capably inspired by Mr. Robert Myers.

FIRST ROW: Eckart, Roorda, W. Peterson, P. Larson, Draayer, Overland, Sullivan, Gendler, Tiede, D. Olson, Grorud, Frondal, Ress, Ter Avest. SECOND ROW: Mains, Nichols, Castillo, D. Draayer, J. Junior Highers Promise Future Musical Masterpieces

Chosen for their ability and appreciation for music, the junior high chorus was made up of 157 music-minded freshmen. Having received their background training in the seventh and eighth grades, the choristers were well prepared for the beginning of their first public appearances, which consisted of singing in various assemblies and concerts. Directed by Mr. Robert Myers, a new perfection was achieved.

During the holiday season, they appeared in the Christmas candlelight concert where exceptional brilliance was acquired in the blending of their voices in performing their own solo work. Capably playing their parts were Terry Olson, Richard Stensrud, Robert Montenson and Beverly Knutson as incidental soloists for the group. With the coming of spring, another successful concert was presented by the A Chorus of tomorrow.

FIRST ROW: Freeman, V. King, Y. Hanson, Ackland, Esson, Knutson, B. Matson, S. Paulson, J. Goette, B. Jensen, J. De Vries, Wick, J. Peterson. SECOND ROW: S. Goette, Galvan, S. Oquist, R. Winjum and C. Olson.

Dramatists Display Talent In Serious and Humorous

Diligent dramatists collected properties, peddled posters and painted sets as they prepared for each of their outstanding productions. Clever skits and novel announcements were employed by the creative members to publicize these events. "The Heiress," a costumed production, a laugh-filled comedy, "The Silver Whistle" and Daphne DuMaurier's "Rebecca," were the choices of Miss Hildred Anne Tennihill, drama and speech instructor.

Thespian officers were led by President Paul Yokiel and Vice president Jack Bergen. Minutes were recorded by Carolyn Schneider, while Bill Griswold kept an accurate account of all financial proceedings. Evelyn Jensen served as recording secretary for the group.

"Have your lines learned by next week!" became a familiar phrase to many students who became Masquers by participating in plays. After earning ten points, Thespian membership was acquired.

The Drama Club members became familiar with different types of acting as they journeyed to Mason City's Little Theater productions and to Des Moines to view Drake University's version of "Macbeth."

HANDLING TICKET SALES for plays and planning various Thespian activities were Thespian officers, Evelyn Jensen, Jack Bergen, William Griswold, Paul Yokiel and Carolyn Schneider.

GREASEPAINT AND BRIGHT LIGHTS are familiar to these smiling Masquers who have all had parts in various school drama productions. FIRST ROW: Wichmann, Olson, Waterman, Boyd, Rullestad, Dillavou, Searles, Hoyt, Schneider. SECOND ROW: Ruble, Babbitt, Nelson, Peterson, Cram, Harber, Speltz, Wall, Lowry, Matson. THIRD ROW: Bergen, Morrison, Jordan, Harty, Ostrander, Knutson, Throlson, Earp, Griswold, Robinson.

Productions To Delight and Captivate Capacity Crowds

READY, WILLING AND ABLE were these dramatists who, by dint of their contributions to behind the scenes harmony and efficiency, earned the name Thespian. FIRST ROW: Gulbrandson, Nelson, Olson, Waterman, Quiggle, Skinner, Boyd, Rullestad, Dillavou, Searles, Hoyt, Wichmann, Schneider, Tovson. SECOND ROW: Wong, Babbitt, M. Nel-

A HESITANT SUBJECT, Robin Thorpe shows concern as Joyce Gendler, Charles Syverson and Margaret Kuchera prepare to use him as a guinea pig for make-up practice. This quartet's work on various drama productions insured their future initiation as Thespians.

THE MASTER PAINTERS might well be the name applied to these dramatists who, though they are not yet Thespians, did much of the stage work on the "Silver Whistle." Taking time out to examine the programs are Audrey Erickson, Edward Levine, Carmen Cervantes and Dale Nelson.

DISCUSSING the immediate future of the Hi-Teens organization are its officers: Mary Lowry, vice president; Barbara Esse, treasurer; Sue Nelson, president and Jane Gulbrandson, secretary.

the Utmost In Unity and Attain New Heights

Enthusiastic high school girls join Hi-Teens to serve their school and community, promote friendliness and develop character, leadership and personality. Their goal is to create a high standard of ideals for themselves and their school. All senior high girls are eligible for membership in this club.

The first project the girls undertook was the decorating of the Homecoming dance using a collegiate theme. Christmas favors were made and given to the Naeve Hospital. "Twinkle," a Christmas skit, was presented on December 13. A sextet and tap-dancing duo were additional features on the program.

Everything from flashlights to marshmallows adorned the shoe-less feet at the Sock Hop which provided an entertaining time for all! Prizes were given to the persons for the craziest, the prettiest, the most original and the most colorful socks. Proceeds of the merry event were given to the United Nations for underprivileged children throughout the world.

Another individual feature was Mr. Clayton Wulff talking on his travels to Mexico.

Talent and more talent! An echo of the Tiger's Roar was the "Kitten's Meow," when several original acts resounded. Tumblers, duets and skits performed under the theme of "Dormitory Daze."

As a special occasion this spring the girls invited their mothers to a style prevue followed by a tea in the cafeteria. The purpose of this occasion was for mothers, daughters and teachers to get acquainted. With time ebbing away, the last two meetings on the agenda were the elections and installation of new officers.

During the year a representative council was set up, consisting of two girls from each class. The officers and the advisers met with them. Their objectives were those of obtaining material for meetings, planning the program for the year and discussing and evaluating ideas and suggestions that arose.

The third Wednesday in every month usually found Hi-Teens members assembled in the high school auditorium for their business meetings. Advising the organization and aiding the representative council were Miss Gertrude Piers, Miss Ruth Bauer and Miss Ruth Nelson.

Future Farmers Endeavor To Gain Know How Through

FOR OUTSTANDING MERIT and achievement the name Star Farmer was conferred upon Orville Johnson, junior F.F.A.'er. This award, bestowed for outstanding merit and qualifications, was given at a banquet honoring the parents of F.F.A.'ers for their cooperation with the students and instructors.

With a bigger membership than in any year in the past, the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America constitutes an important part of the school curriculum.

Under the able direction of instructors Mr. Lowell Ross and Mr. Don Paulson, the 108 members learned to apply better methods of crop and livestock management and soil use.

Besides their regular class studies, each member had one or more projects to which he devoted much of his time. A well stocked trophy case attests to the success of these projects in state and national competition.

CAPABLE LEADERS were the officers, La Verne Martin, David Horning, Elton Ruble, James Skaar and Richard Sorenson. NOT PICTURED: Everett Jensen.

ADMIRING THEIR TROPHY are state champion soil use judges, Roger Morreim, Everett Vande Voort and Henry Vande Voort.

SHOWING WINNING TECHNIQUE is National Champion Carcass Grader, La Verne Martin, who journeyed to Chicago to compete.

Study, Work and Active Participation In Farm Projects

Performing at F.F.A. and Vocational Agriculture banquets, their own quartet and nine piece orchestra entertained audiences with their talent and enthusiasm.

Helping construct a new livestock judging pavilion at the fair grounds was one of the many projects undertaken by F.F.A.'ers as a service to the community.

Utilizing cooperation between parent, member and instructor, F.F.A. aims to build more efficient farmers for America's future. Chapter 101's success is shown by alumni Dick Stadheim's award as "American Farmer" in 1953.

Showing both the champion pen and champion barrow at the annual Spring Barrow Show was Odean Jerdee. It was the second year in succession that the latter trophy has resided in the Albert Lea F.F.A. Chapter's showcase.

Annual F.F.A. Night, February 20, found 38 members and their instructors joining F.F.A.'ers from all over Minnesota to see the Minneapolis Lakers play Syracuse in the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Versatile members formed a basketball team and held games with F.F.A. teams from neighboring schools.

"C'est-ce Bon" French Club Members Comment On Paris

DREAMING of a trip to France are the officers, Treasurer Mary Lowry, President Bill Sorenson, Secretary Delores Hayes and Veep Donna Babbitt.

If the French people are gay, they were certainly well represented by Miss Ruth Bauer's second year French Club. After organization, the group officially became the Fleur De Lis Club. The purpose of these meetings, which were held every other Friday during classtime, was to promote the practical application of the language.

Selecting pins and ordering them was discussed at several meetings. Finally the small gold pins arrived and met with everyone's approval. "Chevaliers de la Table Ronde" was the favorite song among the students.

With perfection as their goal, the Junior French Club read skits in French and listened to records. The French and Spanish clubs were co-sponsors of a dance in February after the Austin basketball game. Mary E. Nelson and Susan Nelson arranged for multi-colored decorations and a pinata suspended from the center of the streamers.

Celebrating Christmas as the Spanish do, the second year Spanish Club took turns blindfolded and tried to break the traditional pinata full of favors. Officers were: JoAnn Register, president; Karen Bjoro, vice president; Elizabeth Peterson, secretary and Barbara McNeese, treasurer. "El Rancho Grande" eventually became their favorite song. By recording their voices on the tape recording machine the students learned how to pronounce words correctly.

Conscientious Ushers Contribute To Programs With Courteous Service

At the closing of an assembly with Bill Matthies saying, "You will be excused by the ushers," members of the Ushers Club took their places to conduct a very orderly dismissal. This service organization was under the direction of Miss Clara Berdan and Mr. Victor Stensrud.

Besides serving at assemblies, these girls were present to usher at other programs in the high school auditorium such as for concerts, plays and the Tiger's Roar. The club members did not wear uniforms while on duty, but dressed either formally or informally according to the type of program and whether they were posted in the balcony or on the main floor.

The duty of the ushers was not only to excuse and seat people, but they took tickets and handed out programs as well. To perform this work well requires friendliness, courtesy, poise, good grooming, posture and the ability to meet people.

To notify the members of the club to be present at a program, appropriate signs telling the day and time were posted on the main floor bulletin board.

J. C. L. Strives To Learn Ways of Ancient Roman, Greek Civilization

To encourage an interest in and appreciation of the literature and art of ancient Rome and Greece is the main aim of the Junior Classical League. The Albert Lea Chapter of this national organization adds sparkle to the school year for its many members.

Under the capable direction of Miss Clara Berdan, adviser, the club got off to a roaring start with the annual fall initiation. Speeches on the Junior Classical League, language study and classics were given, after which an interesting program was rendered. Thirty-six new members were initiated into the club.

A highlight of Junior Classical League activities was the annual banquet. Moving along a television theme the program portrayed a Roman wedding, original dramatizations of famous myths and Latin commercials. The decorations also helped make the affair a success.

As a climax to a successful year, all Junior Classical League members journeyed to St. Olaf College for an interesting and educational state convention. Panels, speakers and fun formed the agenda for the day.

CONGRATULATIONS! Alfred Anderson receives membership into the Junior Classical League. Watching the presentation are Paula Person, Ruth Vandegriff, Audrey Hoyt and Phil Knutson.

Science Enthusiasts Plan and Prepare Projects, Programs

With a membership of 25 active students, the Science Club sought to promote interest in biology, chemistry and other scientific fields. Regular meetings were held every other Thursday in room 103 with Miss Olive Johnson supervising. Members were encouraged to develop hobbies and carry on projects in addition to participating in club activities. Bruce Glenn completed a project on protozoa cultures and prepared microscopic slides. Experimenting with rats was Karen Bjoro, while Hans Wong built an electrostatic machine.

Besides viewing a series of movies on chemistry and taking field trips, the scientists journeyed to Mankato for the Science Fair in April. Those students who had finished projects were accepted into the Minnesota Academy of Science and were allowed to attend its meeting at St. Olaf College. During the year, the members sponsored a dance using the theme, "Marshmallow World." As a benevolent project the group collected "Seeds for Democracy" in the spring which were sent to the Philippine Islands.

Audio-Visual and Library Clubs Help Expand Education

Valuable experience was gained by the student assistants as they assumed many responsibilities in the library. Duties are slipping and shelving books, typing notices, distributing fine and overdue slips and working at the desk. Two students worked each hour throughout the day during their study halls, helping and advising the students in many ways.

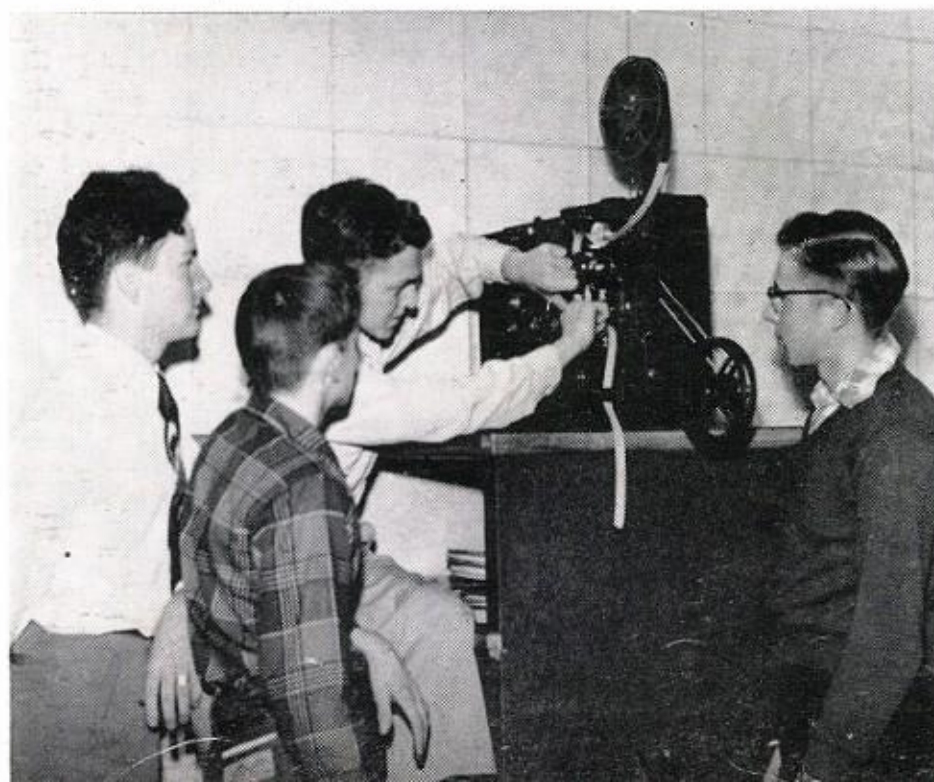

Over 1,000 new books were purchased this year. The assistants helped place these books in circulation by cataloging and shellacking them and pasting the pocket and date due slip in. The books were well publicized by placing their jackets on various bulletin boards.

Serving the school and the student body in many ways was the Audio-Visual Club which functioned with no regular meetings or election of officers.

Learning how to set up and operate tape recording machines, record players and the public address system for various classes and programs in the school, was the Audio department under Mr. Nettleton. The Visual section took charge of all film and other equipment and scheduled the pictures under Mr. Volkman's direction.

All the recordings used in the '54 record of school events were made by these students.

High Rating Qualifies Students For Society Membership

Character, scholarship, leadership and service denote the 26 members of the National Honor Society. Each member, when initiated into the Society, promised to maintain his outstanding character, at least a 3.0 grade average, to continue to be a leader and to give unselfish service in his home, school, church and community.

The big moment arrived for 12 seniors at the fall initiation assembly when they were invited to come into the Society by the 14 members who were initiated in their junior year. Reverend DeNieu, guest speaker, told students the relationship between the goals of the National Honor Society and world leaders. The attributes of the Society were explained by four of the old members and after the candlelight processional each new member was presented with a pin.

The Have-A-Heart Drive was the organization's main project. This drive combines seven drives into one to eliminate the need of many campaigns in school. Members sold hearts throughout the week of February 8-12 to raise money for the charities. The money was divided equally among the funds for mental deficiency, cancer, heart, local school welfare, crippled children, polio and tuberculosis.

To stimulate more interest in the drive, votes for the King and Queen of Hearts were given with each heart sold. When ballots were counted Dick Jensen and Carol Hoogland were named the king and queen. Homecoming Queen Arlene Peterson announced the royal couple and crowned them at the Have-a-Heart dance which climaxed the week of fund raising.

A new idea in the campaign this year was a carnival which preceded the dance. Each Honor Society member constructed and ran his own booth. Included were a kissing booth, a fortune teller, a side-show, a beauty parlor, weight guessing, movies, a shooting gallery and refreshments. Hats, balloons, noise makers, canes and confetti put students into the carnival mood and added to the festiveness and merry-making of both the carnival and dance.

When the Honor Society members counted up the last pennies, nickels and dimes after the carnival and dance, they found they had surpassed their goal of $300 by more than $50. When students came to school on Monday morning they saw that the thermometer, which had been constructed to show the daily progress of the drive, had shot right over the top and that this had been the best Have-A-Heart Drive in ALHS.

WITH THE $300 GOAL for the Have-A-Heart Drive reached and topped, Joyce Verdoorn, Cynthia Louters, Jack Bergen and David Larson turn in their hearts and campaign equipment.

STRESSING LEADERSHIP are the Society officers, President Jane Reynen, Secretary Jennelly Ingvaldson, Vice President Karen Juers and Treasurer Virginia Narverud.

Leaders Emphasize Service By Launching Heart Drive

FALL INITIATES promised to uphold their high standards of scholarship, leadership, character and service. SPEAKERS: Ray Ostrander, Darlene Hendrickson, David Larson and Connie Boyd. INITIATES:

Jeanette Wong, Mary Searles, Mary Ellen Nelson, David Earp, Carolyn Burnett, President Jane Reynen, Lucille Nelson, Everett Vande Voort, Joyce Verdoorn, Lois Sorlien and Earlynn Wood.

HOW'S THIS for a hot number? Adviser Edward Barrows goes over a new arrangement with director Herbert Brand.

Known by the slow, rhythmic beat of their new theme song, "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," the Swing Band completed its ninth year of existence by soaring to new heights both in quality and quantity.

Maestroed by Herb Brand, the swingsters added three new pieces: a baritone sax, a third trumpet and a third trombone; thus raising their membership to thirteen. Another addition was Bill Wedge who acted as errand boy doing such odd jobs as setting up stands and fixing the music.

Adviser Mr. Edward Barrow arranged numerous popular melodies for the rhythmaires. "Blue Flame," "Stardust" and "Ruby" soon became top favorites.

Everyone scrambled for a place in the line when the opening strains of "The Bunny Hop," the current craze, were played. Danceable music was kept in mind by the Swing Band when they beat out old favorites like "In the Mood," "Two O'clock Jump," "Song of India" and "Johnson Rag."

Those requesting music with a slower beat were provided with "Moonlight and Roses," "Blue Moon," "Tuxedo Junction" and "My Reverie."

Two novelty numbers, "Honey in the Horn" and "Seven Lonely Days," were arranged by Mr. Barrows. A group vocal was featured in both selections.

ONE! TWO! THREE! FOUR! and off they go on another number. Mr. Edward Barrows directs the newly-formed, six piece Dixieland Band in their rendition of Ja 'Da. Members are Richard Foley, Howie Hunt, Dave Earp, Pat Ahern, Al Madson and Harry Rahn.

BLENDING THEIR VOICES in perfect harmony are Connie Rullestad and Marcia Brown.

Gains Popularity; Couples Glide To Dreamy Melodies

MAKING LIKE KRUPA. Pat Ahern, drummer for the Swing Band, provides that 'solid beat' for his colleagues.

A six man Dixieland Band was formed from the group. "Ja'Da," "Darktown Strutters' Ball," "Wang Wang Blues" and "Little Spanish Town" were done in true Dixie style.

The Tiger's Roar presented an ideal opportunity for the Swing Band to exhibit their skill. Named the Manhattanaires, they added "Lullaby of Broadway," "Artistry In Rhythm" and "Tiger Rag" to their growing library.

"Chinatown" and "Candy Lips" showed the ability of the Swing Band to accompany singers. They also furnished the background music for Jean Berglund's interpretation of "So In Love" and Karen Juers' rendition of their new theme song.

Dark blue jackets, set off by a maroon necktie, identified the band at the school dances. Purchased by the Student Council, they were delivered shortly before the Tiger's Roar. Graduating seniors were permitted to keep their jackets as a reward for their services.

A newly-purchased piano and drum set aided the band in reaching the perfection acquired by the year's end.

As a final reward, the Student Council presented a banquet for the Swing Band and their dates at the completion of the annual Tiger dance.

Diversified and Distributive Club Members Work

Business training while on the job could easily be the description given to the course of Diversified Occupations.

This program of study, which includes those wishing an immediate business position upon graduation, enables the student to get the necessary, related and theoretical information pertaining to the industry or trade which the pupil selects as his life's work.

Although the program is not established as merely a way for pupils to make money while attending school, this extra revenue earned is a noteworthy but not major feature.

Each student secures his job through the instructor of this course. The pupil then reports for work each school day at 1 P.M. Business English and social studies are two required subjects that supplement the course.

Mr. Norman K. Bailey, who heads this department, is responsible for seeking out and adjusting any difficulty or problem which the student may have where he is employed.

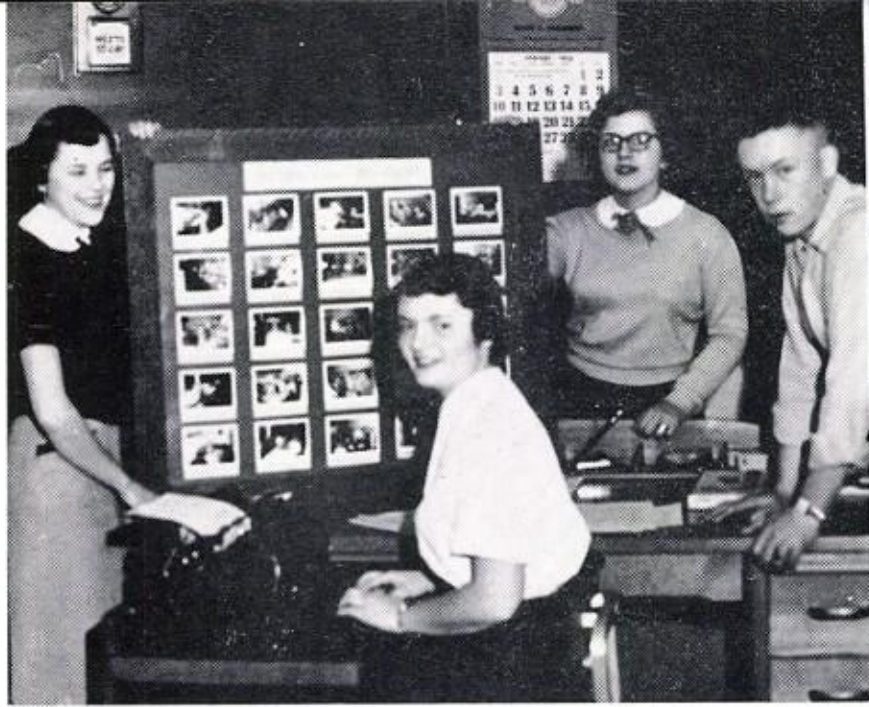

It is the instructor's duty to send in monthly reports to the state concerning the participating student and also to observe the student while he is working.

PRESIDING AT MEETINGS of the Distributive Club were the officers, Deloris Distad, Mary Hanson, Barbara Trapp and Jack Sundve.

and Study To Gain Experience For Future Vocations

Just as in Diversified, the 33 members of Distributive Club desire to begin work immediately after graduation. During their senior year, they are employed in the direct sale of items to the public. Distributive Club is in its fourth year of operation here.

Members attended a meeting at Faribault on November 18 to study reorganization of Distribution Clubs on a state and regional basis.

A state meeting of delegates and alternates from all clubs was held at the University of Minnesota, January 14, for the purpose of electing state officers and another at Waseca in February to adopt a new emblem.

Besides their weekly meetings, members had the time to go on several tours, hold an employers and employees banquet and have a party at the Coca Cola Bottling Co. Refreshments, movies and dancing were on the agenda. Roller skating parties were held also.

April 28 again found local members and their instructor in Minneapolis for a state meeting, this time at the Curtis Hotel.

Under the able instruction of Mr. Norman K. Bailey, students enrolled in Diversified Occupations who were qualified for membership in the Distributive Club, learned to work harmoniously and gave the best of service.

Alpha Hi-Y Stresses High Ideals of Christian Living

DISCUSSING THE FUTURE ACTIVITIES of the club are Gordy Johnson, treasurer; Tom Christensen, chaplain; Ray Langerud, vice president; Mr. Orville Gilmore and Bob Golberg, president.

To create, maintain and promote high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community was the goal of the Alpha Hi-Y this past year.

Composed entirely of senior boys, the club held its weekly meetings at the newly-constructed Y.M.C.A. Hall. Recreational activities included boxing, table tennis, billiards and basketball.

Adviser Mr. Orville Gilmore worked with Mr. J. M. Snyder to organize suitable programs and entertainment for the meetings. A council composed of LeRoy Hemenway, Gordy Johnson, Bob Golberg, Tom Christensen and Ray Langerud met with Mr. Gilmore to discuss the problems facing the organization.

Highlighted by a journey to Winona for a state-wide convention, the Hi-Y'ers sponsored many successful projects during the year. Most pleasing was a semi-formal dance held at the Y Hall.

For their last regular meeting, the boys enjoyed an overnight stay at Camp Moraine. Softball, a steak fry and a sleepless night were all included in the outing.

Y.M.C.A. membership cards were presented to the boys at the completion of the year. These cards grant them admittance and the right to the privileges offered by any Y.M.C.A. building in the United States.

DISPLAYING their artistic abilities are Bob Golberg, C. Thomas Christenson and Roy Hemenway as they decorate the Christmas tree for the Y Hall.

MMM GOOD! Chuck Bosacker, Dave Earp and Bill Griswold prepare the tasty refreshments for the Alpha Hi-Y's semi-formal dance.

Gamma Hi-Y Provides Recreation for Sophomore Boys

Familiarizing and adapting themselves with the high standards of Christian character, responsibility and fellowship was the main objective of the Gamma Hi-Y.

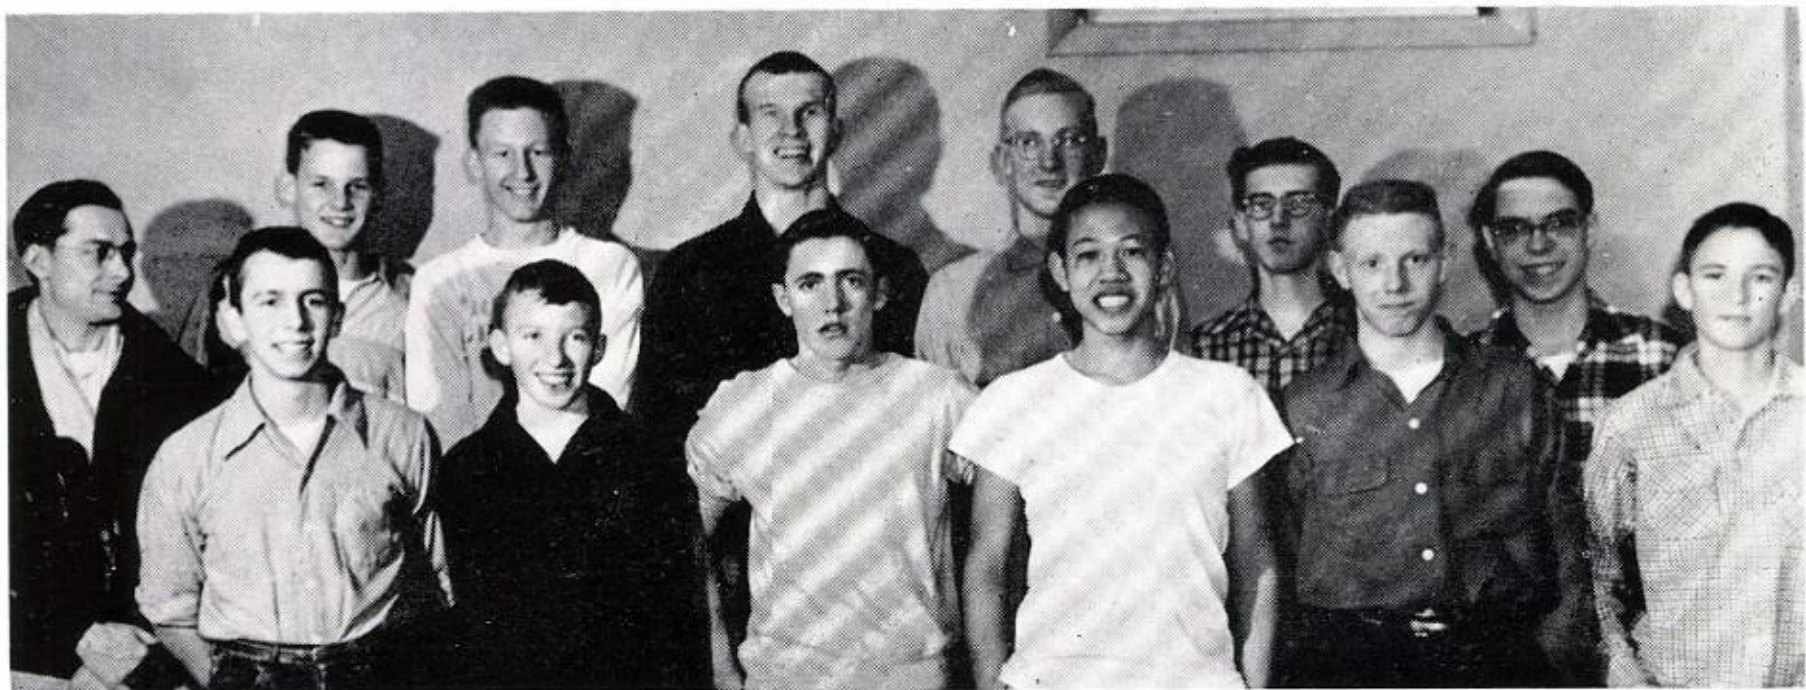

Holding their regular meetings every Monday night in the Y.M.C.A. building, the club, composed entirely of sophomore boys, enjoyed all the privileges that the new hall could offer. Activities included basketball, table tennis and volleyball.

Soon after organizing, the boys ran into the problem of selecting a suitable adviser. Mr. Harold Penny met with the approval and consented to guide the club. Officiating over the meetings was John Wong. Assisting him were Jack Sprenger, vice president; Dwayne Peterson, secretary; Darryl Darg, treasurer and Tom Stiedler, chaplain.

Among the many projects attempted by the club was a peanut sale to supply some of the much needed funds.

Among Other Projects the Red Cross Filled A School Chest

The true giving spirit shown by the students of senior high helped the Junior Red Cross to move along by setting an all time high of $125 in the 1953 enrollment drive. Again using the red bucket, won by teachers with the largest amount of money according to students during the day, the students went all out to push the worthy campaign.

A school chest was also undertaken by the council in hopes of spreading good will abroad. It was made by the shop classes and filled by contributions from all of the homerooms. It also contained an album showing life in our city. Miss Ruth Woods, teacher sponsor, supervised.

Junior high Junior Red Cross set new goals last year also. Led by Miss Lucy Houlihan, teacher sponsor, Sharon Paulson and John Wedge, co-chairmen; Susan Head, secretary and Joanne Hassler, treasurer, all worked together to make a successful year.

The Red Cross enrollment drive netted approximately $103 and they also filled some 200 gift boxes. During the Yule season, they sent Christmas cards to every patient in the many rest homes. The enthusiastic junior highers also remembered these people on their birthday and sent cheer at Easter time.

JUNIOR HIGH RED CROSS members are, FIRST ROW: J. Enderson, S. Fabry, L. Sprenger, S. Hanson, M. Klukow, S. Bettner, G. Christenson, A. Warrington. SECOND ROW: S. Head, J. Hassler, A. Loge, J.

Future Secretaries Obtain Valuable Office Experience

Tasks of the girls working in the senior high office vary slightly from those of junior high.

The girls, among other things, run errands, sell student tickets for ball games, type, cut stencils and help with mimeographing.

Each hour of the day four girls from the senior high study halls volunteer to assist in the two offices. They may use the free time, in which they are not busy with office obligations for studying.

Throughout the year the assistants in both the junior and senior high offices were kept on the move. An important job of the helpers was to answer the phone, while delivering messages was also a duty of the girls.

Collecting absence slips and making note of them on the attendance record was one of the major duties required of the junior high helpers. Mail for the high school faculty and students is received at the junior high office; thus another task was sorting the day's mail and delivering packages to various teachers and students.

Shutterbugs Cover School; Take Pictures For Paper and Annual

Supplying the pictures for the AH LA HA SA and TIGER was the primary function of the Photography Club during the past year. Composed of 20 members, they met every Monday night after school under the supervision of Mr. Orville Gilmore and Miss Rita Simon.

Because of the many new members not acquainted with the darkroom, much time during the first of the year was devoted to familiarizing them with the correct procedure of printing and developing pictures.

Trying to ease their financial situation, the shutterbugs sponsored a refreshment stand at all the home football games. In addition, they also sponsored a dance to raise the needed funds.

Various contests were again opened to the student photographers. Holding the most attention was the National High School Photo Award sponsored by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Pins engraved with a small camera were presented to club members who achieved certain photographic standards.

SMILE said the photographer and the Photography Club officers gladly obliged. SEATED: Janis Booen, secretary. STANDING: Roy Hemenway, vice president; Dave Earp, president and Bob Golberg, treasurer.

Industrious Tiger Staff Progresses While "Moving Along" On '54 Annual

Moving Along, the theme of the 1954 Tiger, was true of the 31 senior journalists who devoted most of their time to producing the annual.

Picture scheduling began last fall with each section scurrying to meet the January 1, deadline. Student photographers were put on the job to make the pages the best pictorial record yet. With students failing to report and cameras failing to work, section members reluctantly scheduled retakes.

In the meantime, the cover was chosen from several artistic designs. Adding to the already surmounting work copyblocks were assigned. Tension mounted when copyblocks were returned for corrections as the literary editor strove for perfection.

Armed with rubber cement, a red pencil and a black pencil, the business managers cropped pictures and pasted them to be sent to the engraver. The editors divided their time between 113 P.A. and Trades. Editing never ended as they sought originality and continuity for the yearbook.

KEEPING THE TIGER staff "moving along" are Ray Ostrander, business manager; Darlene Hendrickson and Mary Lowry, co-editors and Mary Speltz, business manager.

PUBLICITY STUNTS for increasing the yearbook's circulation are being dreamed up by Jack Bergen, Cynthia Louters, Mary Ellen Nelson, Marilyn Tolzman, Jeannette Wong and Lois Sorlien.

CLASS AND FACULTY sections of the annual were arranged by FIRST ROW: Pat Boe, Shirley Olson, Barb Wichmann and Joyce Verdoorn. SECOND ROW: JoAnn Jochumsen, Darlene Severtson, Alice Becker and Romelle Dillavou. THIRD ROW: Lucille Nelson and Jane Reynen.

CAPTIONS, COPY BLOCKS, GALLEYS were familiar terms to the organization, feature and sports section writers. FIRST ROW: Carolyn Schneider, Jerry Ruble and Mary Searles. SECOND ROW: Joyce Stiles, Pauline Lambertus, JoAnn Quam and Carolyn Burnett. THIRD ROW: Craig Clausen, Chuck Bosacker and Dave Earp.

Journalists Labor To Produce Award-Winning Paper

ARMED WITH A TELEPHONE, typewriter and pica stick, Jane Reynen, assistant editor; Ray Ostrander, editor-in-chief and Mary E. Nelson, assistant editor worked industriously to publish the Ah La Ha Sa.

Guided by the Ah La Ha Sa's record of past achievement, the journalists moved through headaches, late hours and hard work to put out the school news.

Publishing the paper during the first half of the school year were the experienced seniors. Their efforts in reporting the news were rewarded with praise from the National Scholastic Press Association and by the winning of the Gallup Achievement Award.

With Miss Edna Gercken to advise them, the staff aimed for perfection in every issue, but put special emphasis on the Homecoming, Christmas and senior numbers.

With the national press convention in Minneapolis, most of the staff got a chance to study new concepts of journalism which they employed in their future issues. A Big Nine clinic at Red Wing also provided a viewing of modern school newspaper techniques.

"TURN IN YOUR ADS! Where's that picture? Mail the papers!" Such phrases were familiar to these hard-working journalists. SITTING: Joyce Verdoorn and Barb Wichmann. STANDING: Pauline Lambertus, JoAnn Quam, Carolyn Schneider, Dave Earp and Mary Speltz.

EDITING THE PUBLICATION and managing the business affairs were tasks performed by SITTING: Darlene Hendrickson, Carolyn Burnett, Lucille Nelson and Cynthia Louters. STANDING: Chuck Bosacker, Mary Searles, Craig Clausen and Phil Lee.

USING THEIR "NOSE FOR NEWS" to cover all school events were the senior staff reporters, often referred to as the "backbone" of the paper. FIRST ROW: Mary Lowry, Pat Boe, Romelle Dillavou and Lois Sorlien. SECOND ROW: Joyce Stiles, Shirley Olson and Jeanette Wong. THIRD ROW: Darlene Severtson, Marilyn Tolzman, Alice Becker, Jerry Ruble and Jack Bergen. NOT SHOWN: JoAnn Jochumsen.

Ah La Ha Sa Informs Public of All School Events

After a half year of studious preparation, the junior journalists suddenly found themselves in complete possession of the AH LA HA SA. Putting their training to practical use, they wrote stories, edited copy, solicited ads and checked galleys and proofs.

As successive issues of the paper rolled off the press, they gained confidence in their ability to uphold the high standards of the publication and at the same time became conscious of the journalist's eternal devotion to his job.

The cherished goal of Quill and Scroll recognition spurred on all staff members. The receipts of the honored pins marked a high point for the juniors.

Before taking over the job of putting out the AH LA HA SA, the juniors had gained experience through their work on the 1953-'54 Student Directory.

"TOP NOTCH" describes the juniors' first issue of the AH LA HA SA being reviewed by Kay Thompson and Joanne Voigt, assistant editors; Phil Knutson, editor-in-chief; Judy Harber and Bob Andersen, business managers.

SPORTS

Speed, precision and physical fitness denote the American athlete. Through teamwork and cooperation teamsters anticipate keen competition. From amateur to professional aspects, enthusiastic interest in athletics is evident. The high school teams receive as wide attention as do the experienced athletes in the professional world. Good sportsmanship on the part of participants and spectators is an asset to all athletic events. Sports are varied throughout the seasons of the year and take place indoors and out of doors. Although many American games have originated in foreign countries, they inevitably have been changed to meet the needs and customs of the American people.

Keen competition and the loss of key players via the injury route, kept the Albert Lea Tigers from reaching the pre-season predictions of them. The Bengals, under veteran head mentor Mr. Gordon LeBeau, found such state gridiron powerhouses as Duluth Central, Rochester, Winona, Red Wing and Owatonna confronting them in the state's twenty grid rulers.

Facing the Trojans of Duluth Central in their initial game of the year, the veteran Tigers were equipped with two experienced players deep in each position, which added up to be the year for football in Tigertown. But this soon turned to be a sad tale of woe as the Bengals limped through the season with constant key players missing from the Cherry and Blue ranks. Senior and veteran guard, Phil Lee, inherited the captaincy from Joe Jacobs and Terry Crowley, 1952 gridiron co-captains.

As Fired-Up Tigers Subdue Falcons

More than thirty team members were represented by their fathers on October 30, when the initial Dad's Night was held at Abbott Field. The Tigers rose to the occasion defeating the Faribault Falcons, 20-13. The Dads with their sons' numbers pinned on their coats were presented to the near-capacity crowd between halves by Ralph Summers, director of athletics. The Dads were assigned a special bleacher section. Rooting valiantly and strong, they helped their boys capture the victory.

In post-season balloting Captain Phil Lee, Craig Clausen and Roger Nelson won Tiger honors by being voted to the All-Big Nine eleven. Lee and Clausen held the Tiger line both offensively and defensively at guard and tackle, while Roger Nelson proved to be the breadwinner as fullback and was a top ground gainer in the Big Nine.

Receiving honorable mention in their respective positions were: Knudson, Osburn, Pierson, Yokiell and Ahern, bringing eight Tigers in the All-Star limelight.

A 160 pound bundle of running power kept the Le-Baumen at large, as the Tigers dropped a 19-0 decision to the Duluth Central Trojans on the latter's field. The Trojans' fine running back, Rudy Tuszka, scored all of the games' tallies, but the Tigers play improved to bring the game on an even keel in the second half.

Unable to hold an early lead, the Cherry and Blue gridironmen fell 34-7, before a Winona Winhawk scoring combination of Dick Brown and Phil Conway. Bad passes and fumbles proved to be the downfall of the Bengals.

ALHS was not forced to kick once on downs by continually keeping the future conference champion, Rochester, on the move, but lost to the tune of 14-6 at Rochester. Roger Nelson scored the only Tiger tally while Pat Ahern and Gary Brabec carried the Tigers offensively.

Speedy Winger co-captain, George Curtis ran the Bengal defense wild as he led Red Wing to a 31-19 win over the Tigers. Jack Connors, Clayt Robinson and Howard Heckes passed the Winger defense honest, while Roger Nelson romped via the groundways.

Up to this point, the Bengals had not shown the finesse that the early season's predictions had said of them. Nelson was the only consistent gainer with Ahern and Robinson shining at times.

Seventeen Seniors Graduate

THIRD ROW: Verle Hendrickson, John Roscoe, Brad Platt, Jerry Keeler, Ralph Delgado, Peter Lloyd, Jack Connors, Chuck Bosacker, Al Stoa, Ray Delgado, Dick Jensen, Chuck Harty, Tom Bates.

Combining sharp passing and keeping the Tigers at bay with a stout defense, Owatonna's power-laden Indians performed a turn-about of the previous year as they downed the LeBeaumen 20-0, before a packed house of enthusiastic Homecomers.

The Indians, spurred on by last year's stunning 15-0 Homecoming upset, took advantage of costly mistakes and fumbles and put them together and held a 20-0 lead at the half, which they did not relinquish throughout the second half.

Playing without the services of Dick Knudson, Dean Wick, Paul Pierson and Ronnie Deckard, the Tigers roared back in the second half with a goal-line stand and numerous drives only to have them fall short as the Northfield Raiders sent the Bengals reeling under their sixth defeat of the year, 13-6.

When the final gun sounded, the Tigers were found within the Raiders' ten yard line and the huge crowd of homecomers heaved a sigh of relief. ALHS standouts were many but Captain Phil Lee and Craig Clausen opened holes at will on the left side of the Tiger line for the fast rising trio of Pat Ahern, Clayt Robinson and Roger Nelson. Tightening their defense and improving their offense, the Bengals now had a mark of 3.3 yards per running thrust, to their opponents' 4.5 yards.

HEAD BOSS over Tiger gridiron play this year, Gordon LeBeau points out a miscue to his assistants, Garret Ahern, Luther Olsen and Paul Wilke.

Lee, Clausen and Nelson Gain All-Conference Status

A battle of the winless, still left the Cherry and Blue gridironmen seeking a victory as the Mankato Scarlets grabbed a 13-7 victory, which left the LeBeaumen in sole possession of the cellar in the conference. Continual on the spot passing by Scarlet quarterback John Bogard, plus a Bengal mental lapse on defense was the deciding factor. Halfback Pat Ahern scored the lone Tiger tally with Roger Nelson converting on a skirt around right end.

Working completely as one unit and for their Dads, the Tigertown favorites fought off a fighting Faribault eleven in the waning second to preserve their 20-13 lead, for their first win of a long tough season. Pat Ahern hit paydirt twice in the first quarter with Craig Clausen converting twice to put the Tigers out in front 14-6. Roger Nelson made it 20-6 on a sprint around end.

Sheer fight and the great desire to win, gave the Tigers' great rivals the Austin Packers, their game of the year, but the Bengals drive fell short 21-19 as two points after touchdowns were the all important factors. The Cherry and Blue gridironmen, down at half-time 21-0, came back with 19 points and at the final gun, the Packers were fighting off a snarling, clawing Tiger eleven. Tigertown had many standouts in the season's finale, but Captain Phil Lee played the game of his career at guard, as did plunging Pat Ahern in the backfield.

MEN BEHIND THE ACTION. Supplying and caring for many wants and needs, Bill Bergen and Jerry Nelson undertake this unheralded task.

With good passing and terrific running, the Albert Lea Baby Bengals ended their football season holding a five win, two loss record. The two losses came at the hands of Fairmont, 19-0 and Mason City, 27-0.

Sweetest of the victories, were the two games the B's had with the Austin junior varsity. The first contest ended with the Bengals on the long end of a 14-6 score. In their second meeting Autsin was trampled 14-0.

The team, coached by Paul Wilke and Garret Ahern, took two decisions from Owatonna by scores of 7-6 and 26-13, which was the most decisive score of the year.

The Bee squad ripped through the Faribault junior varsity by a score of 21-6; although the Bengals won the game, it was costly as star quarterback Bob Brabec suffered a broken bone in his ankle. Stars of the game were halfbacks Lowell Brady and Ronnie Rice. Hard plunging Steve Leuthold also was a thorn in Faribault's side. Rice scored the first touchdown, Brady made it 14-0 and tallied again adding six more points, Leuthold plunged through to score the Bengals' final point of the contest.

Boys that are scheduled to go to the varsity next year are Lowell Brady, Steve Leuthold, Ronnie Rice, Tom Connly, Clay Lyons, Chuck Schneider, John Brabec, Dick Heilman, Armand Zavitz and a host of others that played on the Bee squad during the 1953 season.

THE MEMBERS OF THE 1953 B SQUAD are: FIRST ROW: Tom Hall, Lowell Brady, Charles Smith, Bill Wedge, Lyman Steil, Roger Ingebritson, Jim Verdoorn, Robert Heckes. Speed and Aggressiveness Nets Tigers Second Place

COACH PAUL WILKE and Captain Jack Woodside, head strategist and floor general, pose before opening a practice session.

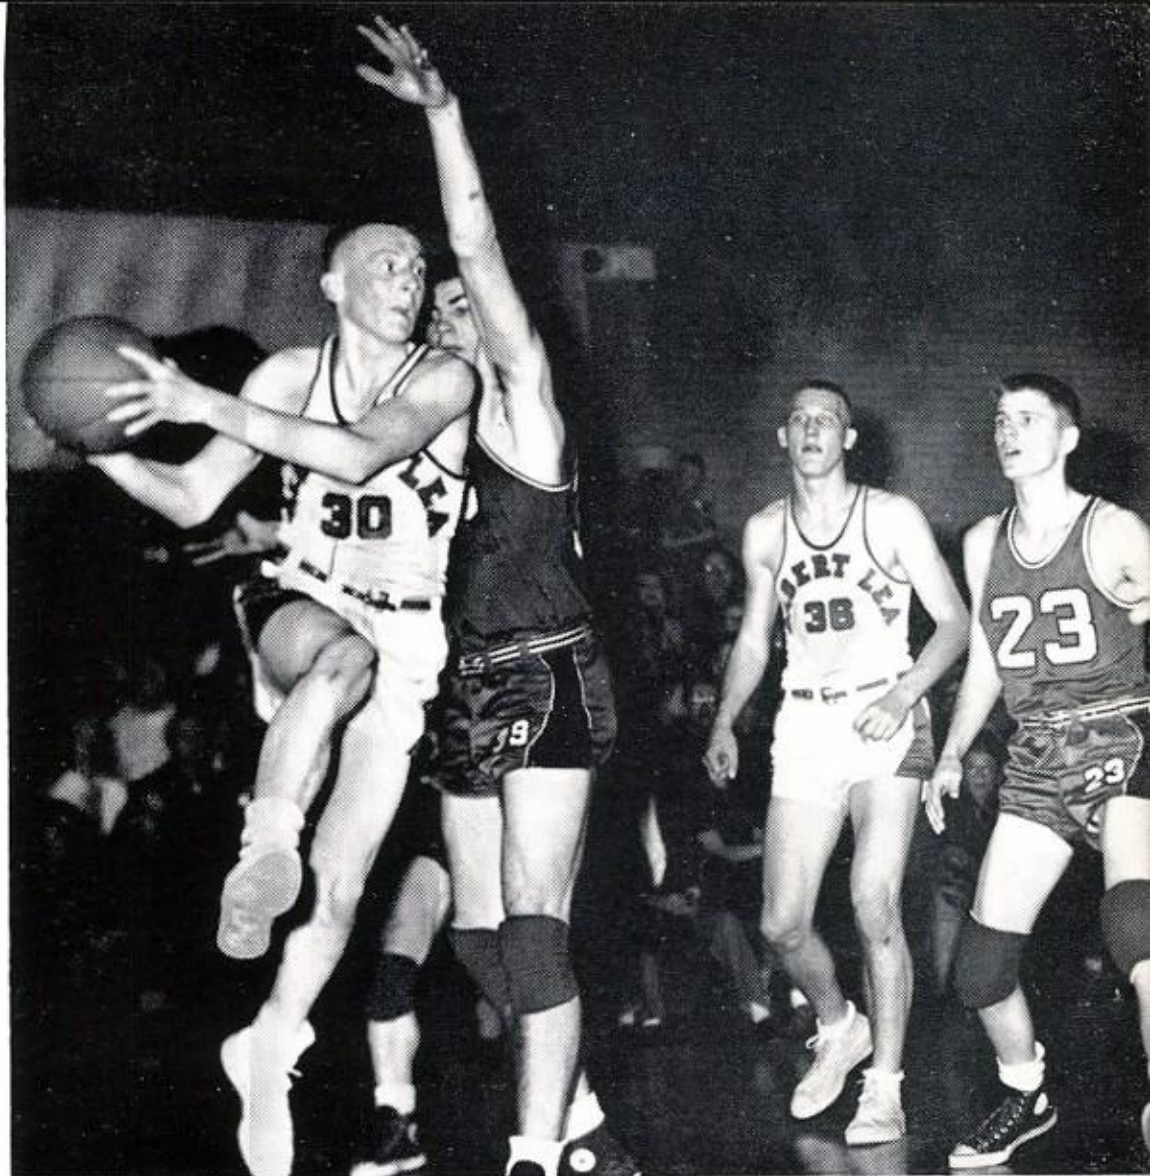

Sporting a classy fourteen wins against two defeats at the close of the regular season, Paul Wilkie's cagers captured second place in the grand gallop for Big Nine laurels. Engaging Austin in district one competition, the gallant Tiger crew put up a tremendous fight against the towering Packers, but Austin's prevailing height finally subdued the Cherry and Blue athletes 72-63.

Showing finesse, the Bengals opened their season with a 62-51 conquest of Forest City, a non-conference foe. Displaying even more grace and a better balance in scoring, the Tigers dumped Owatonna, 58-41 and walloped Mankato, 58-39, for their first conference victories.

Suffering their initial defeat of the young season, the Tigers were uprooted by Austin 74-53. Bouncing back from defeat they added Wayzata and Wells to their slate of wins. Wells pressed the Wilkemen to the limit before falling 51-50. Captain Jack Woodside paced the scoring parade with a grand total of 22 markers.

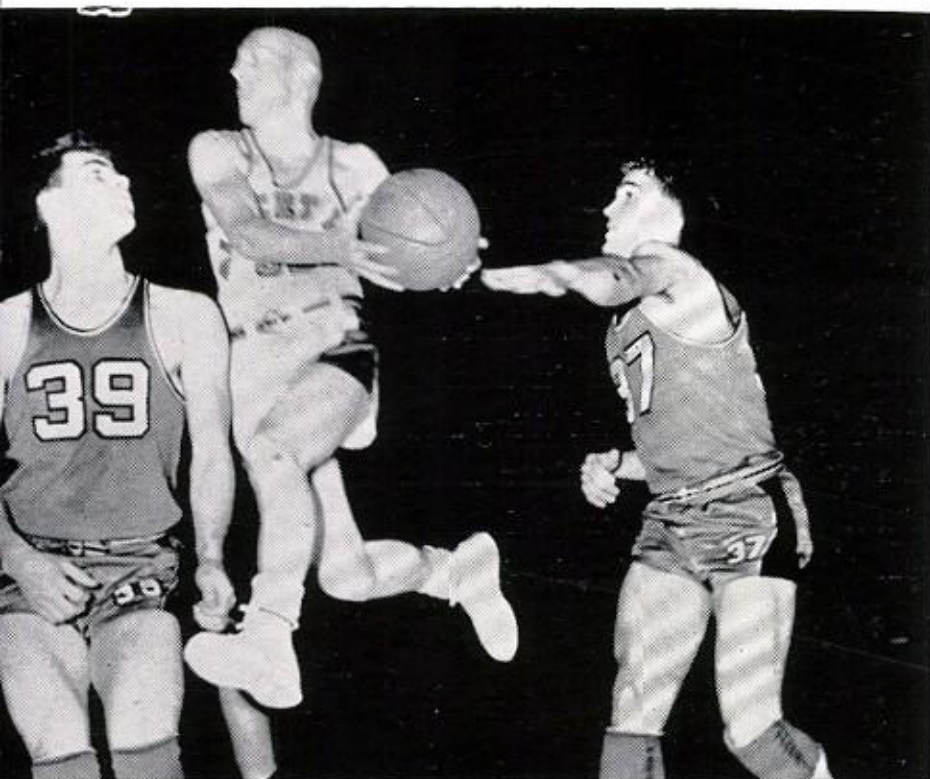

Running their winning streak to five straight, the Bengals whipped Northfield, New Prague and Winona. In drowning New Prague, 81-61, the Cherry and Blue had an amazing shooting percentage of 61 percent. Winona fell victim in an overtime thriller 58-55.

LOW BRIDGE! Captain Jack Woodside drives for the basket as Dick Knudson moves for a rebound position. Rochester's Bob Schmidt futilely attempts to block the shot.

Finish In the Big Nine, Plus New Seasonal Record

CAPTAIN JACK WOODSIDE adds two more points to his record breaking total of 322 counters compiled during the season.

Adding Rochester, another Big Nine enemy, to their already growing string of victims, the Tigers were still in contention for league laurels. Two South Central conference foes, Fairmont and Blue Earth, fell by the wayside. With these conquests the courtment continued their domination of non-conference teams.

Sparked by the miraculous last quarter driving and phenomenal shooting of Jack Woodside, the ALHS cagemen gave the Austin Packers their worst scare of the season before yielding 63-58. Center Dick Knudson led the Tiger scoring with 18 points. In the preceding week the Bengals clinched second place in the league by downing Red Wing by a 12 point cushion, 61-49.

Mankato came within two points of pulling one of the biggest upsets of the year when the supposedly weak Scarlets fought hard but were subdued 52-50. The lads from ALHS traveled to Faribault engaging the Falcons in a tremendous battle. Led by Jack Woodside's 26 points, his highest total, the Tigers came home a 60-55 victor.

Once again the Tigers did battle with Austin, this time for district one honors. The luckless Bengals lost their fourth straight district thrown in a hard fought, hard played game in Rochester 72-63.

AMONG A HOST OF NORTHFIELD defenders, Craig Clausen, one of Wilke's most able reserves, contributes a field goal to the Tiger cause.

UTILIZING HIS TREMENDOUS REACH Dick Knudson, the Tigers' fast moving pivot man, drops the ball through the bucket as Red Wing's Willis Fjerstad makes a hopeless attempt to stop him.

PARDON MY ELBOW! exclaims Red Wing's Dick Deden as agile Dan Donovan, hard driving, high scoring, front court ace of the Tigers, pushes a shot towards the Wingers' hoop.

WHO'S GOT IT? That is the question, as Vern Christensen and Craig Clausen try for a rebound in the midst of a host of battling Rockets from Rochester.

Woodside Smashes ALHS Individual Scoring Mark

Connecting for 1,028 points to their opponents' 877, the varsity basketballers won 14 of 17 contests to put them in second place in the Big Nine. Beginning the year with just two boys with much A experience, the Tigers rose to become one of the state's top powers.

Sensational Jack Woodside, the unconquerable little captain, led the squad with a 19 point per game average and an .800 percent at the free throw line. His 322 total markers for the season set a new scoring record.

Ficry Buster Rahn, Woodside's speedy mate at guard, harassed the opposition with his classy floor play and dunked 171 points. Lanky Dick Knudson was indispensable with his ball hawking and aggressive play. Giving the Bengals some much needed height, Dick had 185 points and an average per contest of 10.8.

Forward Dan Donovan, calm and cool, came next with a neat total of 104 tallies. Dave Larson showed his pinpoint accuracy scorching the nets for 104 marks. Ray Keating showed a .593 charity line average and amassed 59 scores.

Dependable Craig Clausen also saw quite a bit of action giving added rebounding strength and scoring 44 aces. Small they were, yet Wilke's rambler's showed fine form, speed and plenty of fight.

GO MAN GO! Wiry, agile, a bundle of speedy dynamite are the thoughts running through this Northfield defender's mind as Buster Rahn, the second half of Wilke's one, two back court punch, heads basketwise.

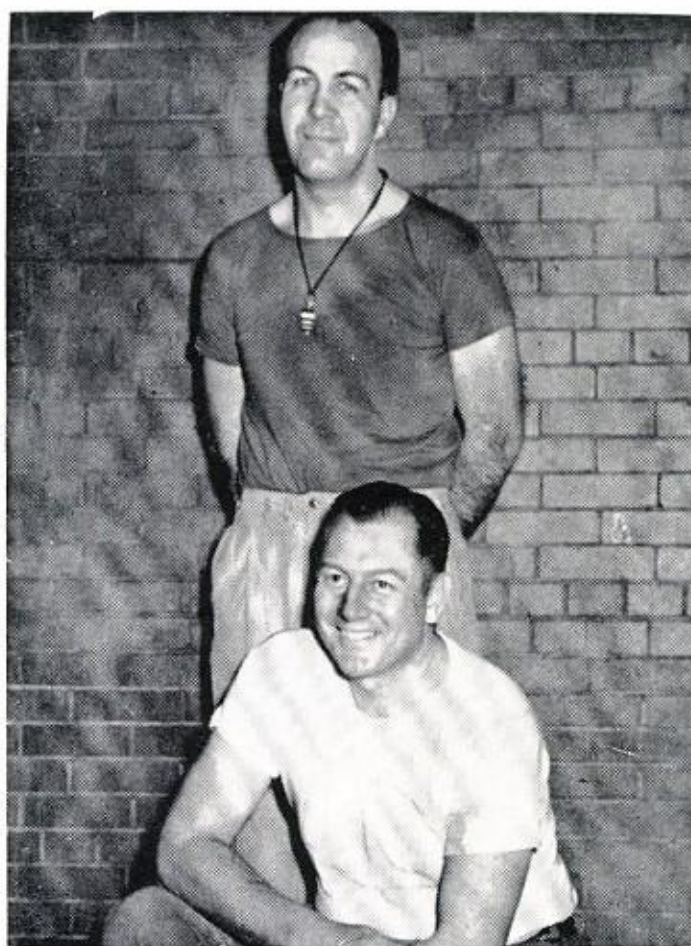

Junior Varsity Displays Speed, Agility For the Future

Under the eagle eye supervision of mentors, Luther Olsen and Gordon LeBeau, the ALHS B squad tumbled opponents like ten pins as they dumped 11 foes while being stopped only once during the season. Utilizing a firewagon fast break style of ball to compensate for lack of over-all team height, the Baby Bengals will supply ample speed and strength to next year's varsity.

ALHS's Cherry and Blue clad basketballers bulled over nine consecutive opponents before having their winning streak snapped by Austin, which was the only black mark on their seasonal schedule. The young Tigers clobbered Owatonna, Austin, Ellendale, Wells, Northfield, New Prague, Rochester, Fairmont, Blue Earth, Mankato and ended the season with a conquest over Faribault.

Sharp shooting, hard driving Chuck Schneider paced the scoring parade with a triumphal total of 123 points. Clay Lyons singled the cords for 107 counters good enough for the runner-up spot. At the three-quarter mark in the season, Lyons was promoted to the varsity for his rugged play both on the floor and on the back boards.

Climbing the long ladder to a possible first five position on next year's varsity were Tom Steidler, Duane Peterson, Lowell Brady, Dan Johnson, Jack Sprenger, Bob Brabec, John Brabec and Bert Veldman.

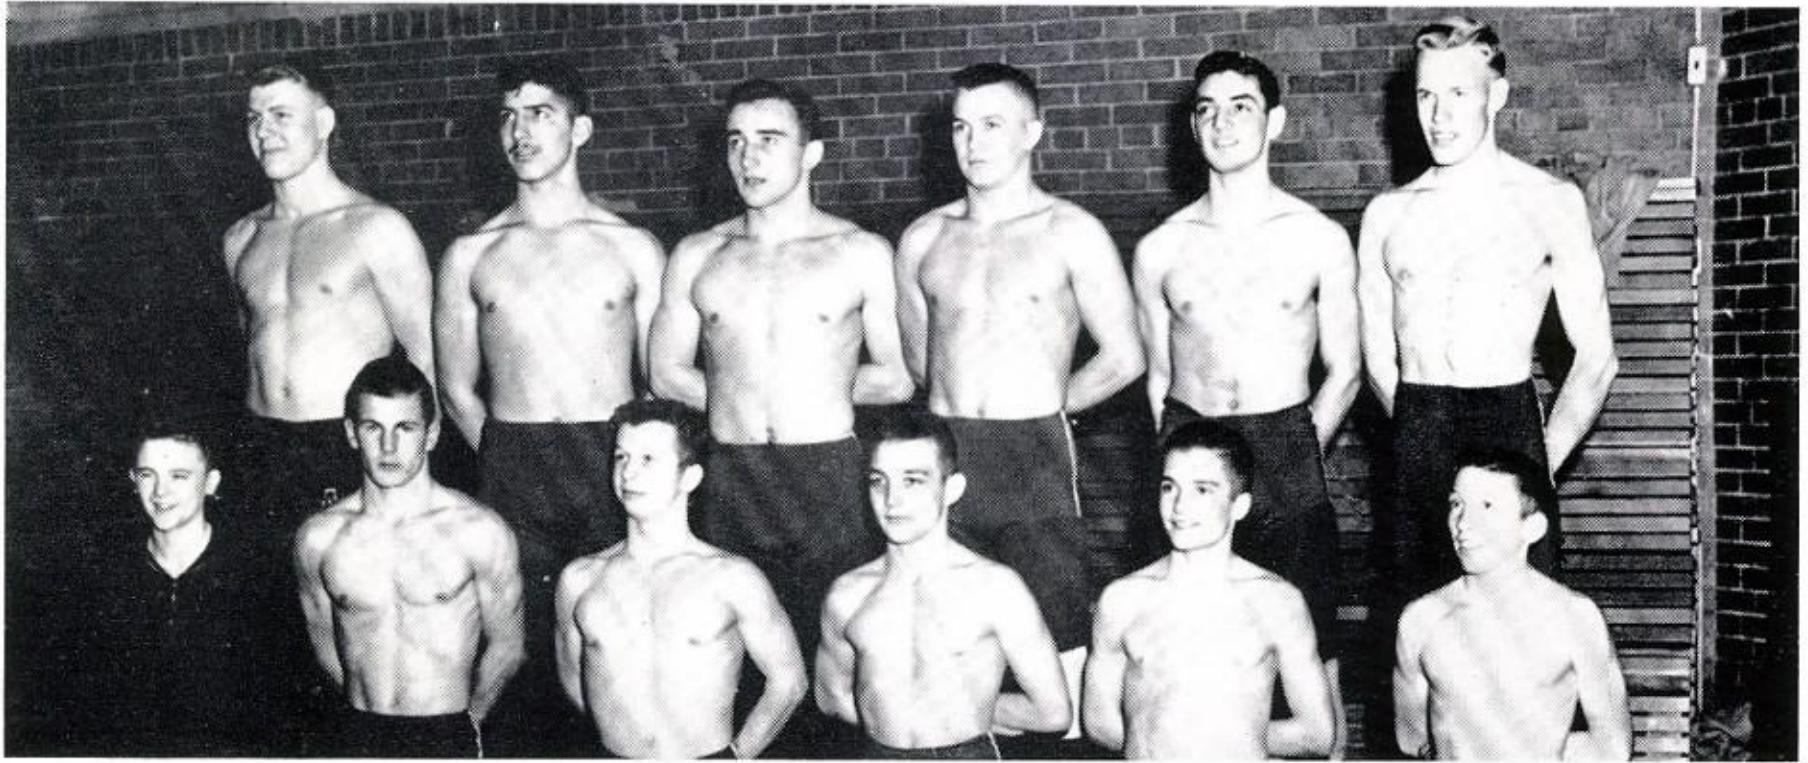

WELL SATISFIED in our season say Lou Olsen and Gordon LeBeau eagle eye coaches of the junior varsity.

Successful Grapplers Place Second With 6-2-1 Record

COACH AND CAPTAIN. Veteran grappling mentor LeRoy Maas confers with Captain Dick Osburn on an on-coming meet.

Grappling their way to a three way tie for second place in Big Nine Conference competition, the ALHS matmen, paced by five lettermen, wrestled their way through a heavy schedule and the best of competition to compile a six won, two lost, one tie record. Letterman and veteran, Dick Osburn, received the vote of confidence from his teammates, as he received the captaincy in pre-season balloting.

Owatonna, conference, region and state champion and Rochester were the only teams to over-power the Maasmen in dual meets, while last year's state champion, Blue Earth, fought the Tigers to a 21-21 deadlock. Mankato, Faribault, Northfield, Winona, Austin and Osage fell before a vicious Tiger onslaught.

Before the regular season started the matsters competed in the initial Mankato State Teachers College Invitational Wrestling Tournament in which 20 varsity hopefuls wrestled in preparation for the regular season.

TWO POINTS! Veteran Don Skaar starts a single leg pick-up on Henthorne of Winona which he quickly followed up with a fall in the Tiger conquest.

FRESHMAN GRAPPLER, Gary Blunt, wins his initial varsity points as he lowers the boom on Flo of Faribault in a 103 pound battle.

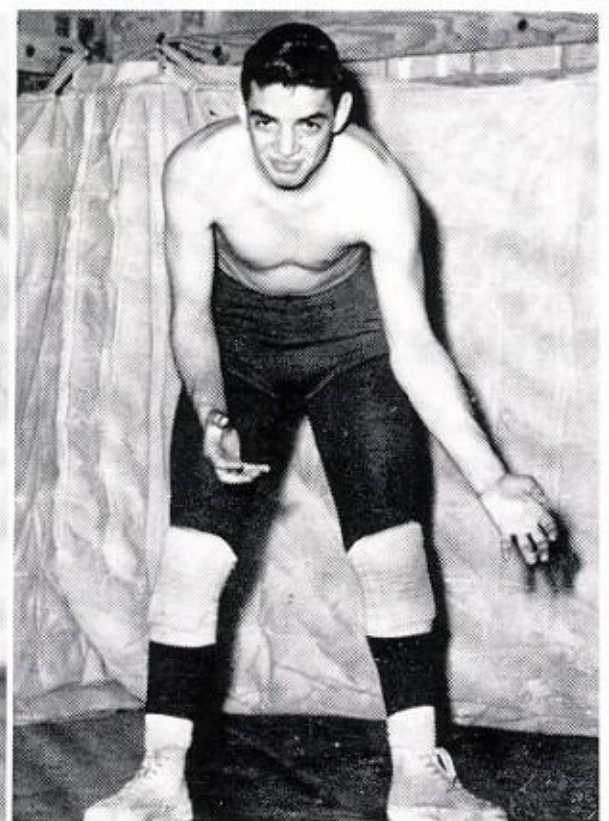

Sparkie Lee. Compiled a 4-3-2 record on his second year on the varsity at the 154 pound class.

Jim Skaar. Found the going tough in his 133 pound division, but wrestled out a 1-4 record.

Ed Robbins. Hit an even .500 mark record as he piled up a 2-2 mark before injuries sidelined him.

Veteran Seniors Form Backbone In Young Tiger Ranks

"LET'S TANGLE!" That's what Dick Jensen is thinking as he works a double leg pickup on Dave Johnson, Faribault, but to no avail as the Falcon won a 4-1 decision.

After going into the regional finals with four men, the Maasmen qualified only two matmen for the coveted trip to the state tournament. Bill Wedge and Ralph Delgado, 120 and 165 pounders respectively, captured third in the tourney. But nevertheless, these sophs gathered experience which will be in their favor in their next two years on the varsity squad.

Several young Bengals won varsity promotions during the year. Freshman Gary Blunt, after a slow start displayed promise in the 103 pound division. Steve Venem and Roy Matson came into the 112 and 120 weights, while Rodger Squires and Dick Jensen sparked the middleweights. Tom Connly and George Stolze took on the 165 and heavyweight chores.

Coming back to booster the Tiger mat ranks next year will be letterwinners Frank Gallagher, Gary Blunt, Dale Robinson, Bill Wedge, Don Skaar, Rodger Squires, Ronnie Deckard and Ralph Delgado, while Steve Venem, Dick Jensen, Verle Hendrickson, Tom Connly, Roy Matson are outstanding prospects.

Bee Powerhouse Bolsters Varsity With 5-3-1 Record

Packing a lot of punch was the Albert Lea B squad wrestling team registering five wins and a tie against only two defeats. Coach LeRoy Maas' team was augmented by plenty of new talent plus several experienced hands to round out the attack.

Leading the pack were Ray Delgado and Rodger Squires who each went undefeated with five wins in competition. Keith Butenhoff, Ronald Venem, Verle Hendrickson, Roy Matson and Tom Connly all had good records; Hendrickson had the most pins with four.

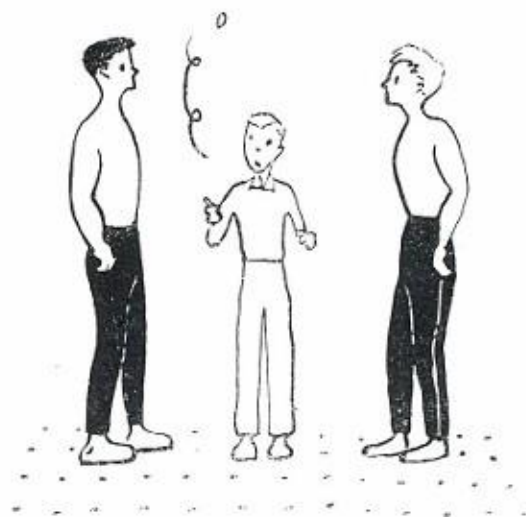

After losing their opener to Owatonna, 28-19, the young grapplers defeated Mankato by a narrow margin of 24-19. Faribault was then taken to the cleaners, giving up eight pins to make a 40-11 final figure.

Northfield and Winona were both soundly clobbered, 44-2 and 30-9, respectively. Rochester proved a tough opponent as the locals barely squeezed by to their fifth win, 21-20. At Blue Earth they strained but could only come up with a tie at 21 all.

Against a strong Austin mat team, the junior Maas-men lost 23-18. An exhibition against Osage furnished a finale to a rapidly moving, busy season.

Title Grabbing Keynotes Golfers' Spectacular Play

Coach Stan Breckner met with sorrow and joy in his color packed golf diary of the Tiger linksters. Loss of the Region One title and stopping of a win streak, which ran to 46 consecutive victories before being snuffed out, provided the sorrow. But the Tigers added a spark of joy winning the District and Big Nine crowns.

Cherry and Blue golfers came through with four wins against two losses. Local conquests came at the price of twice victimized Faribault, Mason City and arch rival Austin. Eventually the Tigers tasted defeat administered by Mankato and Austin. Mankato ended the ALHS dynasty at 46 straight triumphal matches.

Prospects for the coming year are not at all dismal but have a rather brilliant glow to them. Returning for conference competition will be regional medalist winner, Captain Craig Clausen along with Rog Nordahl, Pat Ahern, Jerry Throlson, Jack Wright and Paul Pierson. A schedule of rough and tough matches face the Tigers in their long, hard climb back to the top of the mythical state ladder.

Craig Clausen captured the National Golf Foundation award by compiling a total of 338 points throughout the season. Rog Nordahl landed in second place by gathering a grand total of 265 markers.

CAPT. CRAIG CLAUSEN AND COACH STAN BRECKNER reminisce last year's good and bad points while gazing at the snow covered ground. The Tigers definitely have a bright future in '54.

"SUPERSTITIOUS? NOT US!" Jerry Throlson and Rog Nordahl whip equipment into shape for the on-coming Tiger links season.

Tiger Thinclads Fly Past Austin; Take District Crown

Albert Lea High School's thinclads started off the 1953 track season by pulling a fifth place in the Faribault relays. Rog Nelson starred for Albert Lea in the relays, by scoring a second in the broad jump and third in the hundred yard dash.

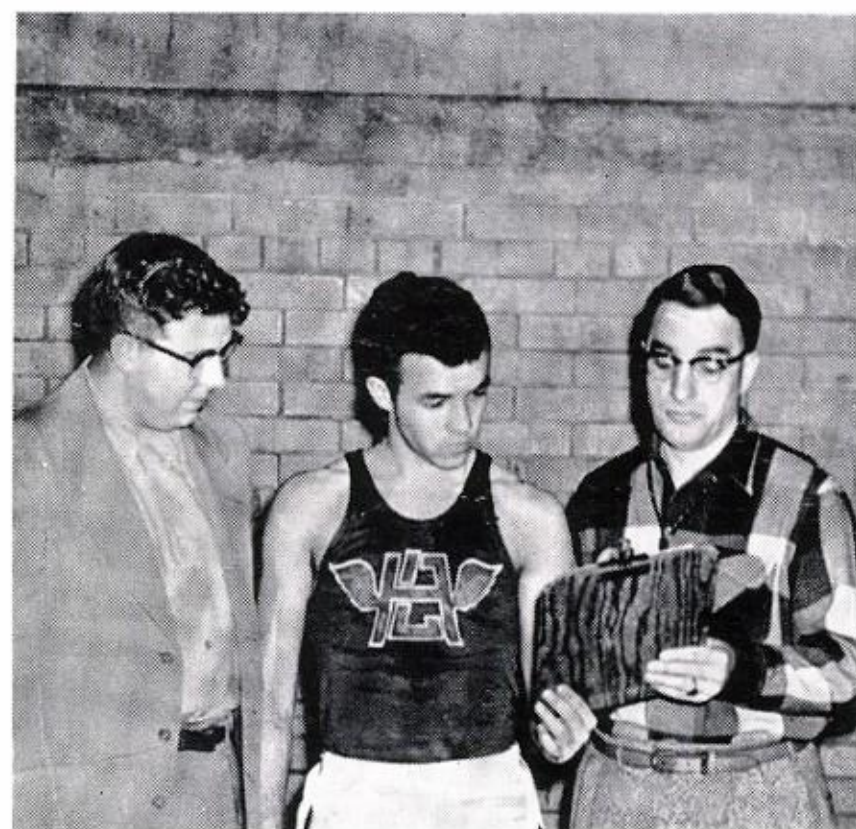

Bill Bradley, captain of the squad, garnered a fifth place in the 440 yard dash. Speedy Howie Heckes scored an eighth place in the hundred yard dash. The A.L.H.S. medley team came in to take third place in the day's events.

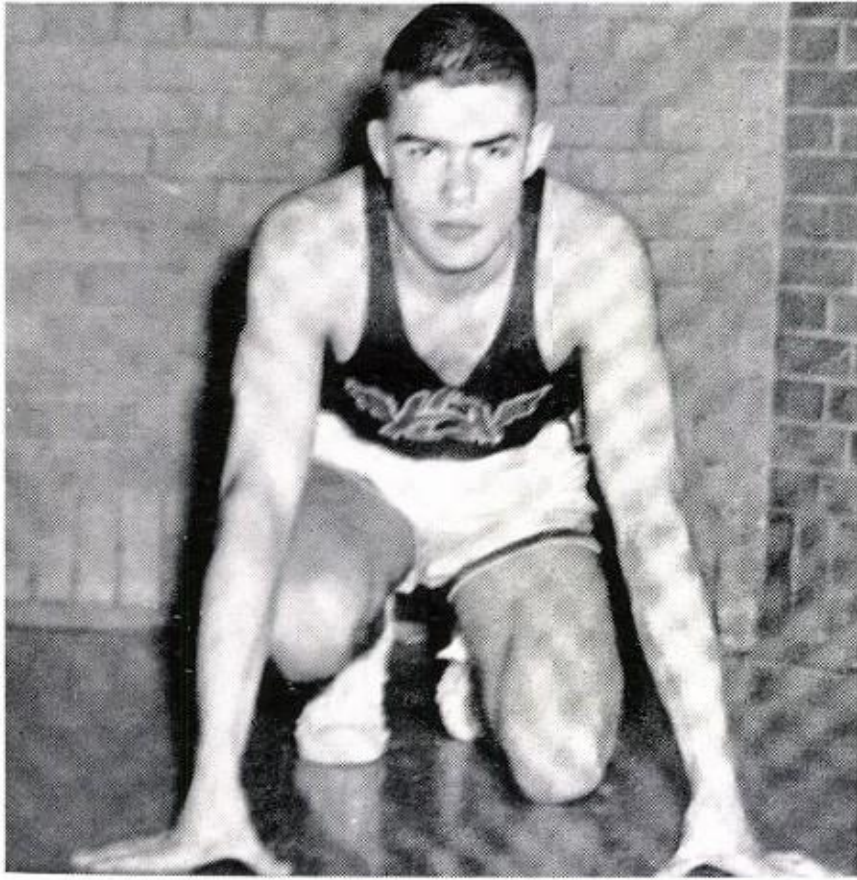

Tiger thinclads were host to the Big Nine conference meet and were judged fifth in the day's contests. Rog Nelson was again the main point-getter for the cindermen from Albert Lea, he brought the Bengals first in the broad jump and high jump. Rog was also third in the hundred yard dash, fourth in the 220 yard dash and was on Albert Lea's winning medley team.

Tiger runners showed terrific stamina and poise as they flew past Austin in a dual meet with the Scarlets. The boys from A.L.H.S. scored a total of 83 points, while the Packers only scored a total of 31.

Rog Nelson again led the Tigers by scoring a total of 18 points. Second in the scoring was Albert Lea's captain Bill Bradley with nine points. Jim Groethe paced the losers with eight points.

LOOKING OVER THE SEASON'S SCHEDULE are assistant coach Hollace Sandholm, captain of the 1954 squad Howie Heckes and the coach of the cindermen LeRoy Maas.

TIGER TRACK STAR Rog Nelson shows us his starting position. Rog was the mainstay of the 1953 edition of the track squad and also represented A.L.H.S. at the state track meet.

Nelson Romps Through District; Third In the State

Roger Nelson led the Albert Lea thinclads during the 1953 season scoring 47 total points in the Albert Lea-Austin dual meet on May 7, the District meet on May 15, the Regional track meet on May 15, and the Regional track meet on May 22.

In the Albert Lea-Austin meet, Nelson garnered a first place in the 100 yard dash, the 200 yard dash and in the high jump. Nelson was second in the broad jump behind Lloyd Palmer, another Albert Lea athlete.

Nelson was again the big man in the District meet held on May 15, 1953. Rog placed first in the hundred yard dash and right behind him was Lloyd Palmer. Nelson again placed first in the 440 yard dash with the A.L. captain Bill Bradley on his heels. Rog was also first in the broad jump and was second in the high jump.

In the Regional meet held at Austin, Nelson scored second in the 440 yard dash, which enabled him to go to the State Track Meet, and in the broad jump. He came in with a fourth place in the hundred yard dash. In the State meet Rog garnered third place in the 440 yard dash.

Here are some of Nelson's best accomplishments. In the broad jump event his best was a 19 foot 6 inch leap. His best time in the 100 yard dash was 10 and five tenths second, while he ran the 220 yard dash in 24 and one tenth seconds. His best time in the 440 yard dash was 52.04 seconds, which he compiled in the State track meet.

DISPLAYING THE WINNING FORMATION that helped them cop the intramural football title are the boys from Dick Hanson's fighting

Hanson's Powerhouse Grabs Intramural Football Title

Finishing a successful intramural football season was Dick Hanson's fighting squad, compiling a 10 win, one loss record, which was good enough to take first place honors in the tough league. Gaining second place was Bill Bergen's crew, with a nine win, one loss and one tie record. Bergen's team lost only to Dick Hanson's squad and was tied by David Long's team.

With a record of seven wins, three losses and one tie, Dave Long's team took third place. Rounding out the first four teams was Niles Randall's crew with six wins, four losses and one tie. Other team captains were Roger Johnson, Craig Counters and Melvin Troe.

One of the largest margins of victory was registered by Dick Hanson's squad, against Craig Counter's' crew. The Hanson-men ran up a 78-6 score and one week later the same team trampled Niles Randall's squad to the tune of 84-6. Considered the best game of the season was the 6-6 tie between Bill Bergen's team and the team captained by Dave Long.

The intramural football program is for boys who are not participating in varsity football, and want in some way to participate in the sport. The two hand touch rules are used for preventing injuries, as no padding of any kind is used.

Ahern's Team Wins Intramural Basketball Over Jordan

Fast breaking, hard playing and keen competition were the main factors in the 1953-54 intramural basketball race. Through the season tight scores prevailed. For example, a 36-34 double overtime battle was fought between Mike Jordan's crew and Pat Ahern's team. Jordan's team won that game and held first place nearly all season until Bergen's team beat them 39-38.

Ahern and Jordan ended the season with nine wins, one loss records. In the playoffs Ahern's team prevailed 49-42. Roy Engbritson's Hollandale squad held down third place all alone, with six wins and four losses. In fourth place was Paul Pierson and Bill Bergen with five wins and five losses. Pierson's team beat Bergen's squad 38-35 in a playoff for the fourth place position.

Bruce Ruble's team held down sixth place with a four win six loss record. Dave Earp and Dick Wulff tied for the cellar with identical one win, nine loss records.

Leading scorer for the regular season was Jerry Steen. He contributed a total of 212 points for an average of 21.2 per game. Second in the race was Bob Brown, who scored a total of 202 points for a 20.2 average. Burt Towne was third high with 167 points and a 16.7 average, Terry Aske followed closely with 164 points, but his average was 20.5 as he only played in eight games.

AHERN DRIVES FOR TWO, while Mike Jordan and Craig Counters attempt to block the shot. Two of Ahern's teammates, Jack Brill and Niles Randall, watch the action take place.

JUMPING HIGH for a shot is Kent Peterson during a bit of action in the championship playoff game. Anxiously awaiting the result are Ronnie Meyers, Terry Aske, Bob Brown, Burt Towne and Mike Jordan.

AHERN'S CHAMPIONSHIP SQUAD, that beat out Mike Jordan's team in the playoffs are FRONT ROW: Niles Randall, Burt Towne, Captain Pat Ahern. SECOND ROW: Kent Peterson, Terry Aske, Dave Bruels.

FIRST ROW: Cashman, Carter, R. Jensen, King, Brand, Gunderson, Hunt, Kron, Brown, Heckes, Esse, Brua, G. Hendrickson. SECOND ROW: Flores, Huber, J. Hagen, Grasdalen, Brown, Belshan, Draayer, J. Jensen, Anderson, D. Hendrickson, Gilpin, Katzung, D. Draayer, Carlson. THIRD ROW: Kuiters, Groeneweg, C. Jensen, Boehmke, Ackland, Harber, Gendler, Bergerson, L. Jensen, Erickson, Carson, Henry, Cady, Folkestad, Kirsch.

The GAA'ers Explore Many Fields of Sports Through

Believe it or not, the members of the Girls' Athletic Association are normal; they are not what most people think, muscle-bound girls of the wild cave age. Instead they are just girls of the senior high school who enjoy sports and participating in them.

G.A.A. has two main interests: one, to encourage sports; the other, for some girls to try and specialize their talents in different sports. There are about 130 girls that belong this year. Wednesday afternoon after school is the time they meet and break loose with some of their extra energy.

Starting with kittenball in the fall, the girls went through an exciting season of winning and losing. They picked the teams among themselves and then the group picked their own captains.

While some members were outside, others were inside and were enjoying table tennis, badminton, shuffle board and tumbling. These sports were continued all the year.

After kittenball came volleyball, where they again divided into teams of their own choice. The winning team was Janice Ladlie's.

G.A.A. PRESIDENT EVELYN JENSEN points out some of the highlights of the year to grinning Secretary Lois Sorlien and Vice President Audrey Erickson.

SCRAMBLING WILDLY FOR THE BALL during the basketball tournaments are Elaine Swenson, Jane Gulbrandson and June Tovson, as Jean Palmer and Joyce Cady get ready to move in.

1953-54 BOWLING LEAGUE. FIRST ROW: M. Hansen, Jordon, Brua. SECOND ROW: S. Hansen, Noble, Pestorious, Henry, Johnson. THIRD ROW: Skaff, J. King, Evans, Grorud, Nash, M. O'Byrne. FOURTH ROW: P. King, Overgaard, Tiede, Larson, K. O'Byrne, Dirksen.

"KEEP THE BALL ROLLING" is the theme of Betty Tiede, Marilyn Hansen, Susan Hansen, Frances Brua and Bonnie Dirksen, officers and team captains.

Indoor and Outdoor Activity

Again as in the past, many G.A.A. girls have taken an interest in bowling. So this year as in the past they formed a club and called themselves the Bowleretts, with four teams, Putitats, Spitfires, Wolverines and Alley Kittens. They also belong to the Junior Bowling Center of which they were very proud.

They bowled three lines every Tuesday at the ABC Bowling Center. On March 20, they held their tournament and sent their record to the state for competition. Among other things they sponsored a dance, the Gutter Ball, of which they used the money to help pay for their expenses.

Next on the list was basketball, games were on Mondays and Wednesdays. The team captains were: Romona Sanderson, Audrey Hoyt, Lorelie Louters, Lucille Nelson, Eileen Noble, Pat Madden, Grace Ver Hey and Carol Hoogland. Following regular games were class tournaments.

When spring came around again the girls went out to the diamonds to play kittenball. Also they held their initiation at Big Island and went to the annual play day for G.A.A., which was held in Owatonna. All in all the season proved to be a very robust one. Acting as their adviser was Miss Lois Spencer.

FIRST ROW: Sorlien, Gulbrandson, Hoyt, Kuchera, J. E. Pleiss, J. P. Pleiss, Quiggle, Register, Van Engelenburg, Stieler, Ver Hey, C. Peterson, Larson, M. Peterson, Lindeman, Stovern. SECOND ROW: Noble, Heather, Nerad, E. Peterson, Tovson, Sykes, Vande Kamp, Termath, Wicks, Moore, Tostenson, Throlson, Gillard, Pierson, P. Peterson, Perau, O'Neal, Sanderson, Thompson. THIRD ROW: A. Peterson, Ladlie, Wood, Louters, Ver Hey, Nelson, Mudra, Palmer, Vosbeek, Madden, Blocker, Van Wyngereen, O'Byrne, Speltz, Thofson, W. Peterson, Nelsen, McNeese, E. Peterson, Livingston.

FIGHT! FIGHT! FIGHT! say these five members of the A squad. Boosting morale of the varsity squad boys and taking charge of pep feats were Lois Sorlien, Mary Kron, Patti Hendrickson, Shirley Larson and Arlene Peterson.

Come On Tigers-Theme of Pep Arousers

The energetic B-squad cheered the Baby Bengals on to victory in many games for a successful season. Practices were every Thursday after school with assistance and advice from Miss Lois Spencer.

In addition to the six C-squad pictured, Christine Hoffman, Carolyn Dusek, Gail Sundve and Edna Stadheim showed interest by coming to practices. Miss Clyda Dressen served as adviser.

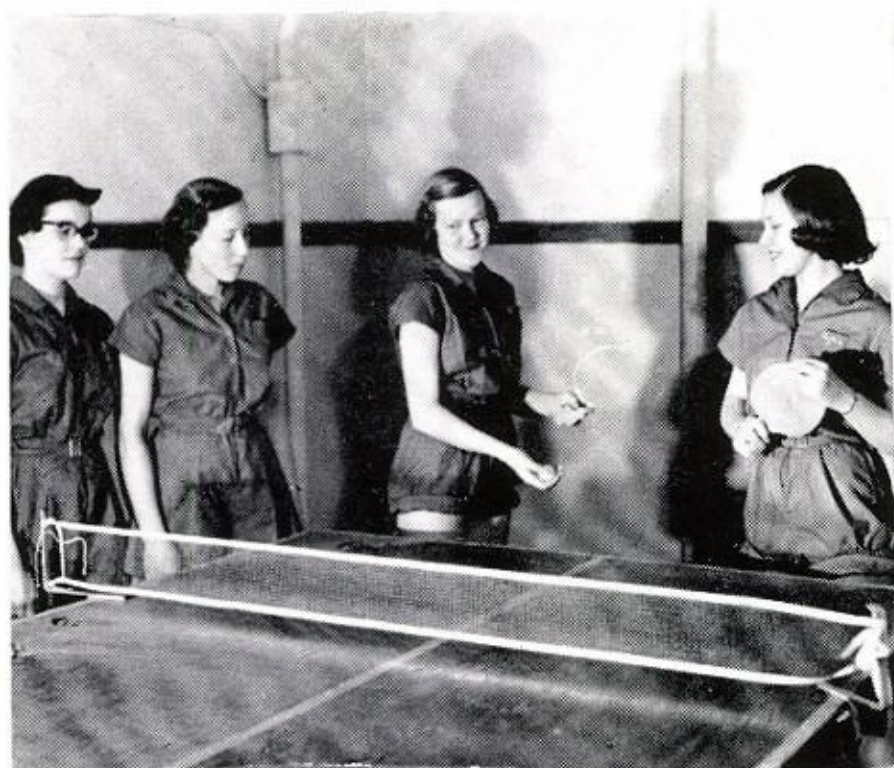

Candidates for cheerleading were judged on presentation, enthusiasm, arm movement, voice and facial expression. The lively five A's lead cheers for football, basketball and wrestling and promoted pep by assemblies.

Two new yells, "Score Tigers Score" and a locomotive, "We're From A. L.," originated this year. "Pete," Lois and Patti emphasized acrobatics in the "Big Rah" and the "Skyrocket."

RADIATING PEP and energy are the B squad cheerleaders. Warming up are FRONT ROW: Maxine Peterson, Apryl Tostenson and Elizabeth Peterson. STANDING: JoAnn Hagen and Helen Stieler.

GAINING VALUABLE EXPERIENCE to be used in the future and leading the cheers for the junior high teams are the the C squad. Practicing are BACK ROW: LeAnn Wicks, Doris Bowman, Janice Ackland and Sharon Bettner. FRONT ROW: Marlene Freeman, Elaine Johnson and Janice Peterson.

"I CAN DO IT" says Carmen Emmons as she prepares to serve the ball in a table tennis game. Contemplating her style are Rosemary Raben, Jeanette Rupp and Cynthia Peterson.

PROMENADE ALL. These eight members of a ninth grade physical education class form a Texas Star.

Girls' Agenda Consists of Study and Play

The first aid course is required of all students before they graduate. In this course, the students learn the fundamentals of handling poisons, burns, fractures and other common mishaps. They also learn the functions of breathing and how to give artificial respiration.

For the first time this year, all students who took the standard first aid course were awarded a certificate to show completion in the course.

Ambitious and energetic students, who wish to display their skills, participate in physical education.

In this course, the girls strive to gain perfect coordination by tumbling and calisthenics. They play such games as soccer, kittenball, volleyball and basketball. Learning the art of various dance steps is another activity offered in gym. All students in high school may take part.

LOOKING PENSIVE are Evelyn Jensen, Marlys Doppelhammer and Marilyn Hansen as Joyce Verdoorn, Joyce Pleiss and Kay Thompson practice first aid on them.

FORMING A PIROUETTE are eight members of a junior high physical education class while four other girls watch anxiously.

Hi Carol,
 I suppose it's customary to wish you lots of luck so I wish you lots of luck in all the future years. I suppose I'll be seeing you. Don't forget the bus picnic! And my bath! (laughing) Well, I guess I'd better sign off now so Bye.

HIGHLIGHTS

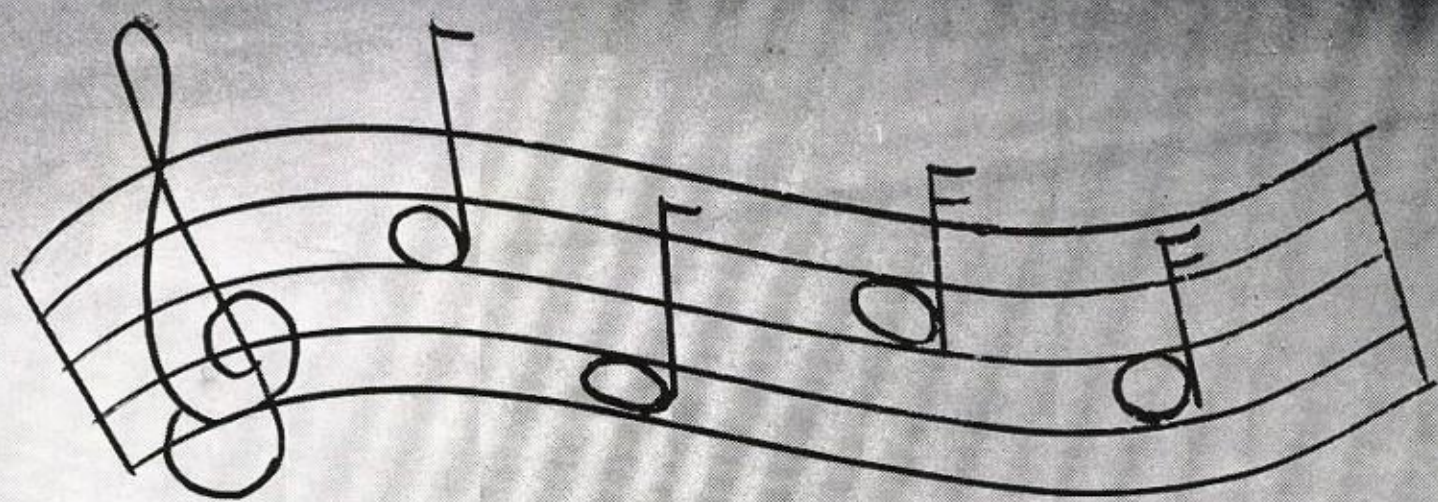

Hi Carol:
 You'll have to excuse the writing because your pen doesn't work so well. Remember all the good times we had at free shows in Emmone & at the fair. Be sure & remember Kertney & David. (Oh, but how could you forget them?)
 Remember Gerline & me!

With more time on their hands than ever before, Americans have turned to seek entertainment and relaxation. The fine arts of the theater and the music of bands and symphonies are sought by many for appreciation and enjoyment. Dance crazes and dance bands keep the American teen set hopping. They never fail to respond to music for the bunny hop and jitterbug. When traveling, Americans seek novel places to visit. They are not satisfied with the usual tourist attractions and go to great length to explore new places and do new things. Yes, the nation is on the move to more and better entertainment.

1953 HOMECOMING QUEEN, ARLENE PETERSON.

Arlene Peterson

A hushed stillness swept over the darkened auditorium as the chorus began the lovely strains of "La Czarine." The curtains slowly parted revealing the 1953 Homecoming Queen, Arlene Peterson. The stillness was then shattered by a thousand-voiced cry of approval.

Attired in the traditional white, Queen Arlene was surrounded by her attendants, Carolyn Schneider, Janice Ladlie, Connie Boyd and Virginia Narverud. The queen held a bouquet of red roses and each of her attendants was presented with a single red rose.

Four outstanding senior boys, Phillip Lee, Herbert Brand, Ray Ostrander and David Larson pledged the loyal support of athletics, music, clubs and activities and dramatics, respectively.

Descending from her royal throne, Queen Arlene knelt to promise, "I, Queen Arlene, do humbly pledge myself to be faithful to the appointed task; namely to promote at all times the general welfare of the school, and to keep faith with you who have chosen me your queen."

Student Council president, Bill Matthies placed a crown of red roses and white mums on Arlene's head. She returned to her throne and turning to the audience, humbly expressed her thanks and appreciation for the great honor bestowed upon her.

As a fitting climax, Karen Juers stepped into the spotlight to vocally remind Queen Arlene that this was the end of her "Perfect Day."

TIVES: Bill Matthies, master of ceremonies; Herbert Brand, music; David Larson, dramatics; Ray Ostrander, clubs and activities; Phillip Lee, athletics and Ricki Myers, crownbearer.

Reigns Over Festivities As 1953 Homecoming Queen

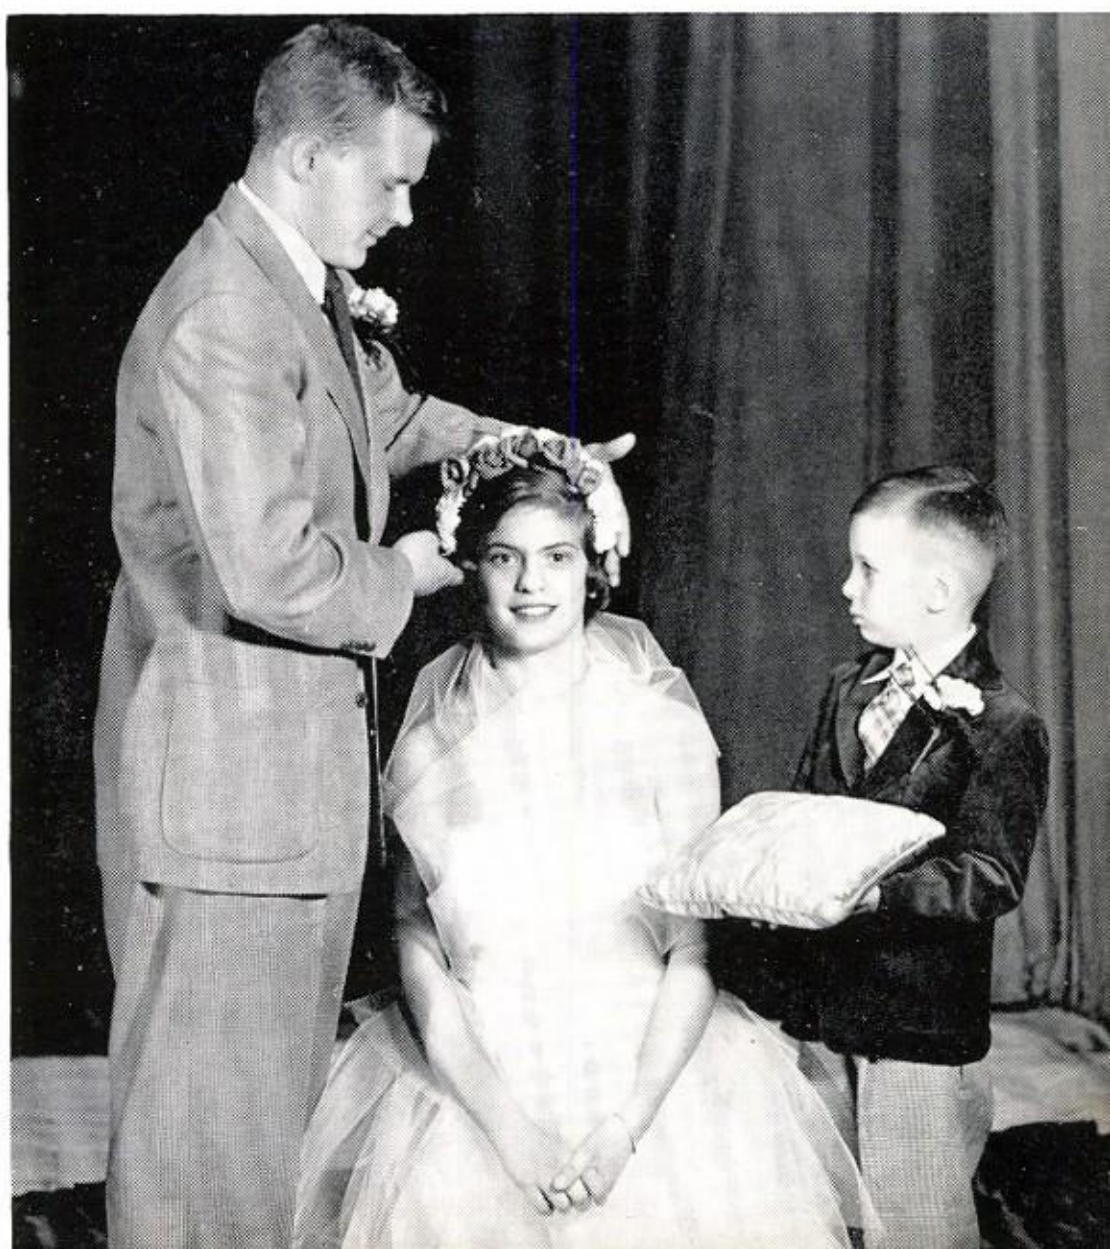

GLOWING WITH EXCITEMENT, the faces of the five queen candidates radiate their happiness. The beaming girls are FRONT ROW: Virginia Narverud, Connie Boyd and Janice Ladlie. BACK ROW: Carolyn Schneider and Arlene Peterson.

Full of fun and pep, Queen Arlene proved herself a true representative of the school and worthy of being chosen queen. During her high school career, she was an enthusiastic cheerleader and an active member of orchestra, National Honor Society and G.A.A. Because she was Student Council treasurer, Arlene was sent to the National Student Council Convention at Portland, Oregon.

Her attendants, also active members of the class of '54, all participated in Hi-Teens. As Student Council secretary, Connie Boyd represented Albert Lea at Girls' State. Carolyn Schneider served as Ah La Ha Sa advertising manager and Feature editor of the TIGER. Acting as assistant director of the Tiger's Roar occupied much of Virginia Narverud's time, while Janice Ladlie spent her spare hours working at a local drugstore or at G.A.A.

"A QUEEN IS CROWNED!" As little Ricki Myers looks on with awe, Student Council President Bill Matthies crowns Arlene Peterson, queen of 1953 Homecoming festivities.

WAVING IN THE BREEZE, these "Indian skins" carry out Homeroom 305's theme "Skindians." Another Indian is in the process of being skinned by two A.L. players.

Enthusiasm, Spirits Rise

Homecoming, 1953, meant fun and excitement as students scurried to decorate the school, floats and football field. Parade chairman Dave Larson directed the Homecoming parade on October 7. Beginning at 7:00 p.m., the wheels began to turn, starting at Central Park and continued down Water Street and Broadway.

Some floats were decorated in the school colors of Cherry and Blue, while others had original themes from "Argyle's Soc 'Em," to "Tiger-Eyes Tonna-ites." The Student Council, sponsor of Homecoming activities, chose the theme of "Tigerize the 'Tonna-ites'" and supervised all events. Student Council Vice President Mike Jordon handled the many problems and headaches with ease.

Chamber of Commerce judges deliberated their decisions to pick the winners in the parade. For the second year in succession, homeroom 102 copped grand champion prize, while juniors outwitted the other classes for a reward in the class division. Other winners were 204 P.A., 222 junior high and F.F.A.

After joining together to form the snake dance, cheerleaders and student body joined in the pep fest at Morin Park, until the bonfire was only glowing embers. Plenty of pep was needed if the Tigers were going to "Tigerize the 'Tonna-ites'" Friday night at the Homecoming game. Everyone agreed that the parade, bonfire and pep fest were the biggest and best ever.

HAS BEEN TIGERIZED told the sad fate of the owner of this tombstone, erected by the Science Club.

As Parade Moves Along

The coronation assembly and gridiron battle on Friday, October 9, climaxed the week's Homecoming activities. Everyone experienced tense excitement that day.

During half-time, combined junior and senior high bands presented clever formations as they marched briskly across Abbott Field. Their presentation of the bunny hop with cherry and blue lights, was greeted with cheers from the excited fans. Queen Arlene and her attendants were then presented to the keyed-up throng, who cheered with wild enthusiasm.

Pep seemed contagious as cheerleaders lead spectators in roaring yells, while cherry and blue pom poms were waved vigorously. Although the Tigers fought with all their might, they could not subdue the Owatonna Indians and were defeated 20-0.

Following the game, alumni and student body gathered in the boys' gym with undampened spirits. Hi-Teeners provided the colorful decorations, while Student Council supervised the other details of the Homecoming dance. Corsages of brilliant hues added the final magic touch.

Dancers glided across the floor to the strains of Dick Finch's music at the climactic dance. The hands of the clock moved all too quickly and soon everyone bade good-bye to Homecoming—1953.

WAVING POM-PONS, Queen Arlene and her attendants were presented at the half. BACK: Connie Boyd, Queen Arlene Peterson and Virginia Narverud. FRONT: Carolyn Schneider, Janice Ladlie and Elton Ruble.

TIGER-EYES THE TONNA-ITES, the sophomore class float, attracted attention with its electric eyes and floppy balloon tongue.

ILLUMINATING THE DARKNESS, the mighty flames of the bonfire leaped skyward, climaxing the excitement of the Homecoming parade.

Effective Settings and Period Costumes Enhance

PARISIAN STYLES enhance the plain young heiress, giving her more poise. Here she embraces her fortune-seeking lover after a long departure. Shown are Romelle Dillavou as Catherine Sloper, the disillusioned heiress and her fiancé, Morris Townsend (David Larson).

OVERCOME WITH DISAPPOINTMENT, Catherine sobs with grief and despair when her false lover fails to appear as he promised. Her gushy aunt stares into space, unable to assist the heart-broken girl. LEFT TO RIGHT: Gail Waterman and Romelle Dillavou.

Dramatically interpreting a frustrated love affair of the nineteenth century, the Masquers presented Ruth and Augustus Goetz' story of "The Heiress." Enacted with professional ease, the play reflected credit on Miss Hildred Tennihill, director of dramatics.

David Larson suavely portrayed Morris Townsend, a handsome, well-bred young man who upset the entire Sloper household with his courting of Catherine Sloper, the unpoised heiress, played by Romelle Dillavou. Getting Morris and Catherine together was the main scheme of Lavinia Penniman, Catherine's flirtatious aunt, who was characterized by Gail Waterman.

With Townsend feigning love for Catherine, but actually only after the money she was to inherit, and Dr. Sloper, enacted by Ray Ostrander, the only one to perceive his true intentions, the first part of the drama became a struggle between the doctor and Morris for each to pull Catherine toward his line of thought. The girl, entranced that a man such as Townsend should court her, fell in love with him and agreed to marriage.

When Sloper threatened disinheritance if Catherine wed Morris, Townsend showed his true colors and jilted the heartbroken girl. After the doctor died, Morris returned to try once again for the fortune. Catherine, an embittered woman, pretended to believe his flowery language a second time, but when he came after her, she locked the door and refused to admit him.

Masquers' Initial Stage Production, 'The Heiress'

A DECIDING MOVE gives the chess game to the gleeful aunt. However, the suave young man's thoughts are not on the outcome of the chess game, but rather on how to gain the immense fortune of the unwitting young heiress. LEFT TO RIGHT: David Larson and Gail Waterman.

WAITING TO ELOPE, Catherine holds a candle to light the way for Morris. Her aunt waits with her, impatient to see her matchmaking plans carried out. Both are disappointed when he does not come. LEFT TO RIGHT: Romelle Dillavou and Gail Waterman.

Other members of the cast heightened the tensivity of the plot with their reactions to the courtship. Shirley Bergerson as Catherine's other aunt, Elizabeth Almond, took a dim view of Dr. Sloper's domineering attitude, while Jerry Throlson and Mary E. Nelson, in their roles of Arthur Townsend and Marian Almond, were completely oblivious to the proceedings, being too much interested in each other to note the affair.

Rounding out the cast were Cynthia Peterson as Mrs. Montgomery, Morris' sister and Connie Rullestad, who played Maria, the maid at the Sloper residence.

The luxurious setting and authentic furnishings created a mood of sedentary living which showed the unvarying temperament of Dr. Austin Sloper, the master of the house at 16 Washington Square. Adding to the illusion of a bygone day were the voluminous dresses of the women and the striking clothes of the men.

DISCUSSING MARRIAGE PLANS are Arthur Townsend, Morris' plain cousin, and his bride-to-be, Marian Almond. Hovering over them with the watchfulness of an eagle is well-meaning Aunt Lavinia. LEFT TO RIGHT: Jerry Throlson, Gail Waterman and Mary E. Nelson.

"CAIRO is a city so full of sin that it is hard for a normal man to sin there. I like it!" exclaims Mr. Erwenter; Ostrander, to his two friends: Throlson and Searles.

RESTING between scenes are Roy Madson, "Zeke," Jack Bergen, Connie Boyd and Howard Heckes. Seated: Phillip Knutson and Audrey Hoyt.

LISTENING SYMPATHETICALLY to the old ladies' problems are Searles, Throlson, Ostrander and Harty. Seated: Waterman and Cram.

Outstanding Characterization Portrayed In 'Silver Whistle'

"Colossal Comedy Captivates Crowd," read the headline of the AH LA HA SA review of the Masquer's hilarious production, "The Silver Whistle," directed by Miss Hildred Tennihill. The play centers around the antics of Oliver T. Erwenter, a philosophical hobo played by Ray Ostrander, who gains admission to an old people's home with a birth certificate stolen from an ash can. Miss Tripp (Mary Searles), the nurse and superintendent of the home, and even Reverend Watson, her stuffy finance, are enchanted by Erwenter's radiant personality.

A Tribune critic described the old folk's characterizations as "Masquer Play Old Age Illusion Magnificent." Mr. Beebe (Jack Bergen) proved quite attractive among the ladies, especially Mrs. Sampler (Connie Boyd). Mrs. Hammer (Lonene Cram) and Mrs. Gross (Audrey Hoyt) were skeptical of Erwenter's principles, but they too found joy in his carefree way of life. Phil Knutson took the role of Mr. Cherry, the stamp collector, and Gail Waterman as Miss Hoadley, stole the show with her drinking scene. Emmett, the character "only half there," because he appeared on a brick wall, was played by Roy Matson. Zeke the monkey and Omar the rooster also contributed to the play's success.

SIN-HATING Mrs. Gross, Audrey Hoyt, tells Mrs. Hammer, Lonene Cram, that an old people's home is no place for Omar, the fighting cock.

Massive Staircase Dominates Set In Suspenseful 'Rebecca'

"Rebecca" was suspense, mystery, drama all rolled into one. Playgoers experienced all when they viewed the Masquers' final play of the season, April 5.

Robin Thorpe, portrayed the difficult role of the moody Maxim De Winter to perfection, while Gail Waterman turned in her usual pleasing performance as the shy, awkward and somewhat confused second Mrs. De Winter.

Faith Seymour characterized Mrs. Danvers, the haughty, sinister housekeeper. Frank Crowley, estate manager of Manderlay and friend of the family, was interpreted by John Morrison, while Major and Mrs. Lacy were enacted by Jerry Ruble and Phyllis Gunderson, even to the point of an English accent.

Pete Lloyd played Jack Favell and Jack Bergen the part of Colonel Julyan.

Servants and maids were played by Lila Bowman, Evelyn Jensen and Jennelly Ingvaldson. Bill Griswold proved very effective as an efficient English butler.

The finished product showed that crews worked hand in hand with the actors to make "Rebecca," another feather in the hat of the Masquers.

SILLY COSTUMES create even sillier moods! This trio, Morrison, Ruble and Gunderson enjoy themselves at the Manderlay costume ball.

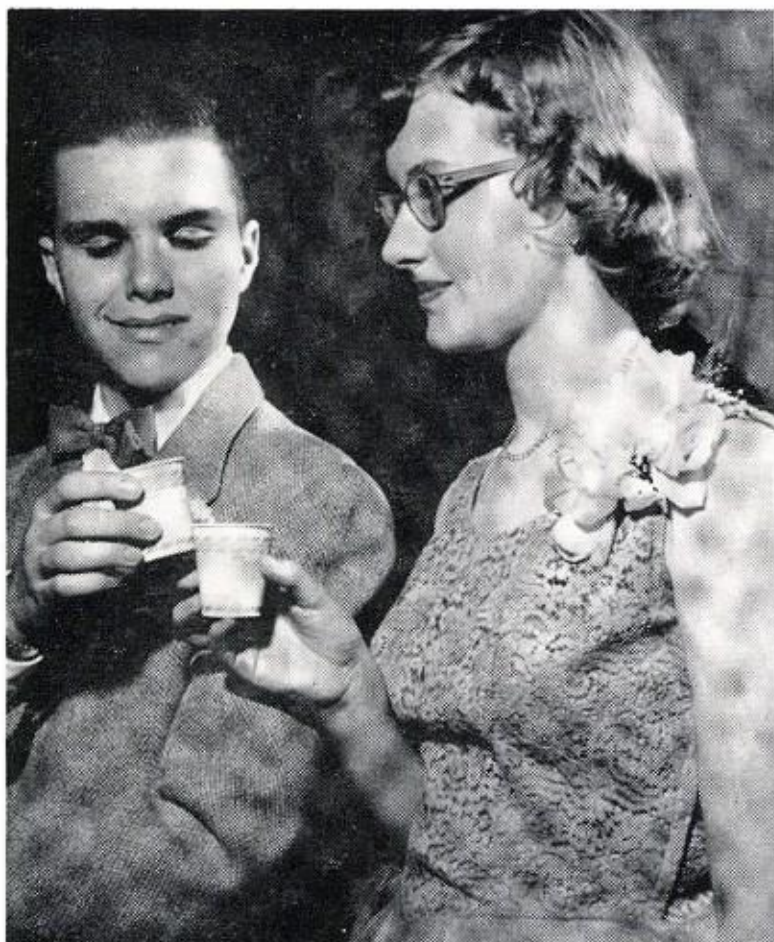

HEARTSICK when he learns that Rebecca's boat has been found, Maxim De Winter, Robin Thorpe, tells his second wife, Gail Waterman, how he killed Rebecca.

PROBING INTO THE MYSTERIES of Rebecca's strange drowning are Bergen, Matthies, Morrison and Sprenger. Watching them is Lloyd.

A BROKEN CHINA CUPID caused much distress among the residents of Manderlay. Discussing the unfortunate accident are Seymour, Griswold, Waterman, Knutson and Thorpe.

"A TOAST to the Prom!" Jack Bergen and Carolyn Burnett used their punch cups to acclaim the success of their first prom.

Prom Splendor Depicts 'Rhapsody of Seasons'

"Rhapsody of Seasons," the 1953 prom, found juniors and seniors in a gay mood as they entered the gaily decorated boys' gym to find themselves in an exciting and beautiful wonderland depicting the four seasons.

Under the canopy of a romantic blue sky, the prom-goers danced to the music of Vance Dixon's band. Music floated from a garden surrounded by a white picket fence and gay spring flowers. White arches, covered with blossoms, added to the beauty of the prom.

Elves and animals depicted the scenes, while spring flowers, gaily painted autumn leaves and ice and snow carried out the "Rhapsody of Seasons" theme. Highlights on the murals were trees covered with pink and white cherry blossoms and snow-capped mountains glowing in the beautiful rays of the northern lights.

Punch was served to the delighted merrymakers from a frosty mound of wintry ice and snow.

As juniors watched with pride, they knew their prom was a glowing success. Both juniors and seniors parted that evening with many unforgettable memories.

CRAZY MAN CRAZY! Man, that music's gone . . . gone! Seated on a bandstand of glittering twinkle lights and flowers, Vance Dixon's band provided every type of rhythm for the rollicking prom-goers to set their steps to.

"WATCH THE BIRDIE," instructed Sparkie Lee as he prepared to take a picture of his date, Punkie Hendrickson and another couple, Ralph Smith and Francis Brua. Murals of elves behind the "promers" depicted the fall season.

Odd Socks and Crazy Hats Highlight Weekend Dances

"Somewhere Over the Rainbow," the Swing Band's theme has opened many a dance, including the one they sponsored to raise money for new jackets. Sometimes vocal attractions added to the splendor of the evening.

A French and Spanish theme was represented by the two clubs. "Continental Capers" whether by plane or by dancing was lovely. During intermission, the Can-Can dancers and the girls' sextet entertained with the song "The Continental".

"Buy a heart," heralded the Honor Society's annual Have a Heart drive by the crowning of Richard Jensen and Carol Hoogland as King and Queen of Hearts. Carol received a red rose corsage and Richard a box of candy. Completing the court scene were the attendants Carolyn Burnett and Richard Osburn, Mary Searles and Herbert Brand and Evelyn Jensen and William Matthies. Each princess was presented with a red rose.

"For Feet's Sake" was presented by the Hi-Teeners as the annual "Sock Hop". Gaily decorated walls reflected the odd assortment of socks. Prizes were awarded to the enthusiastic dancers for the fanciest foot gear.

KING AND QUEEN of Hearts, Dick Jensen and Carol Hoogland, smiled their approval as they reigned over the Have-A-Heart festivities.

DO THE BUNNY HOP! This fad, started in '53, really caught on. Enthusiastic senior-highers got in the swing at a Student Council-sponsored dance as they "hop, hop, hopped!"

Capturing the vivid color and excitement of New York was the '54 Tiger's Roar whose theme was "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round." Beautiful staging and outstanding acts marked the ninth annual production with an all time record attendance of over 4000 making two packed houses.

Led by set designer Donna Babbitt, an efficient crew produced outstanding scenery which was further enhanced by excellent lighting effects. A skyscraper background set the mood assisted by elaborate modernistic Chinatown and nightclub settings. Efficient use of curtains and props added still more to the atmosphere.

Centering around the travels of four people "out on the town," the talent was found at the Bowery, Chinatown, Harlem, Madison Square Garden, Carnegie Hall, Central Park and the Stork Club.

On the first lap a duet, native Dutch dance and a French can-can furnished the fun. Clayt Robinson gave us a sample of his rich voice followed by a trombone quartet. The Hatleli twins with Harlan Nelson gave out with some nifty harmonizing.

Tricky tap steps by Faye Maggard and Gail Waterman were featured. After Jerry Ruble's portrayal of Dennis the Menace, an Irish ballad by David Skoloda was heard. A three ring circus ended the first act with juggling, wrestling and tumbling. An authentic Indian dance by John Ostrander and a quarrel over a taxi by two raucous females were both graphic examples of the variety to be found at the talent filled production.

The 1954 Tiger's Roar Tours Fabulous New York On

THE TUMBLING SORLIENS displayed their nimbleness and agility in their novel act. Shown in a swan formation are Lois Sorlien (bottom) and Eunice Sorlien (top). Featured in a three-ring circus, the duo-acrobatists drew applause as they tumbled and dived.

Neese, Joyce Cady, Pat Peterson, Lois Heckes, Nancy Folkestad, Sharon Harves, Carol Venem and Sharon Pereau.

Manhattan Merry-Go-Round

Included on the instrumental list were an organ duet, a marimba-piano number and a twin piano act. Also featured was a professional job by Phil Knutson on his piano solo in Carnegie Hall.

Presenting a medley of musical memories were the sophomore chorus girls. Two dizzy street cleaners, Bill Bergen and Jerry Steen, proved a laugh riot as did Chuck Bosacker in the nightclub scene.

Jolene Mobley cleverly impersonated singer Johnny Ray and a senior girls' sextette was an immediate hit with their smooth version of "The Continental."

Another cog in the wheel of the successful show was the swing band using the pseudonym of "The Manhattanaires." The success of this smashing production was largely due to the production staff, Mike Jordan, Jack Bergen, Mary Sue Speltz and Virginia Narverud.

"TODAY'S THE DAY the teddy bears have their picnic!" Having a gay time are BACK ROW: Bonnie Nelson, Janet Pleiss, Jean Anderson, Demita Tostrud and Mary Lou Moe. FRONT ROW: Polly Person, Karen Bjoro, Barbara Esse and Joyce Pleiss.

DUNWOODY BECKONS these shop-minded boys. Here they pause to speak with the Dunwoody School representative as they plan their careers.

College Representatives Advise Students On Future Vocations

What occupation shall I go into? What college shall I attend? Each year the Kiwanis Service Organization has sponsored Career Day to help seniors of Albert Lea High School and of neighboring high schools plan their work after graduation. Vocational success depends on skill, purpose, energy and integrity. Career Day was set aside in an effort to aid students in evaluating these factors and for a clear path to see their plans through.

Career Day, November 30, 1953, was planned by Mr. Gay Hinthorn and Principal Louis Adolphsen. Open to senior high students, Career Day began with the movie, "Minnesota Wealth." The film was of natural resources and the beauty of the Middle West. The narrator was Cedric Adams.

Mr. William Gove, sales development manager of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company spoke at a second assembly, covering salesmanship, during the afternoon. At the end of the speech, students adjourned to the cafeteria, where they consulted representatives from colleges, universities and vocational schools over a period of two hours.

This year, the occupation representatives held their meetings during the evening due to difficult scheduling and crowded class room conditions. The program began at 7 P.M. with a convocation. Career conferences were of two sessions each, enabling students to study two choices of vocations. Parents attended these meetings to guide in planning, make suggestions and to learn about various occupations with the students.

BEAUTY OR BRAINS? Mankato exchange assembly emcees appear a little bewildered as they try to decide which they consider the most important qualification for a secretary. Donna Aga, Pete Franklin, Elaine Kyte and Larry Kenyon.

A WARM WELCOME was extended to Miss Ruth Privat, German exchange teacher, when she visited here for four weeks to observe high school teaching methods and American community living. Mr. Vermund Andersen, Miss Edna Gercken and Miss Privat.

Entertainment and Variety Enlightens School Routine

A variety of entertaining and educational programs were presented to the Albert Lea High School student body during the 1953-54 school year. The vim and vigor of ALHS students was emphasized in many concerts, plays and pep fests, sponsored by various homerooms and the Student Council.

The University of Minnesota helped to increase the knowledge of ALHS students with programs such as the Singing Marines, a vocal quintet; Henry Briggs and Billy Carson, famous naturalists and the strange and unusual customs of faraway India.

Using the theme "Courtesy Is Contagious," Captain Paul Martz, of the Minnesota State Highway Patrol, spoke to Albert Lea and surrounding schools on the nationwide traffic problem in a safety conference sponsored by the local Rotary Club.

Creating the annual inspiring Christmas chorus concert were the glowing candles and yuletide spirit of the Madrigal singers, A and ninth grade choristers.

During the year, Oscar awards were given to students who had achieved honor in co-curricular activities. These awards were presented by the Student Council.

R-R-R-RAH! Displaying their school spirit, these enthusiastic "cheerleaders" appeared at the pep assembly before the all-important Austin game. Mr. Orville Gilmore, Mr. Stanley Mittelstadt, Mr. Gordon LeBeau and Mrs. Victor Stensrud.

A TALENTED SCULPTOR, Mr. Raymond Borgardus, modeled faces of famous men from ninety pounds of soft gray clay at an assembly, March 11.

"THE SISTERS MCINTOSH," one of several junior high productions, is portrayed by Julie Westcott, Tom Allen and Jane Clarke. These talented junior-highers were directed by Mr. Wayne Stutelberg.

PLANS ARE MADE for the annual sophomore party, "Downbeat on Broadway." The energetic committee heads are SEATED: John Wong, JoAnn Register and Julie Danielson. STANDING: Marilyn Alm, Ralph Delgado and Helen Stieler.

Memories Linger As School

On the journey through the year 1953-54, there were many stops for fun, work and play. From the opening assembly in September to the commencement exercises in June, every student paused to view or take part in each event and then moved on, carrying with him memories of every experience.

Homecoming, with the parade, the coronation, the game and the dance, was the first big affair of the year. At the same time came football games, wiener and marshmallow roasts, TB tests and such popular music as "You You You" and "P.S. I Love You."

Thanksgiving went hurriedly by and soon the chorus presented its Christmas program of religious music, while the select Madrigal group sang at many holiday activities. The seniors held their annual breakfast and collected pictures of all their friends; junior high produced its annual talent show and Career Day was held.

Heading the list of events after the holidays was the Tiger's Roar under the theme "Manhattan Merry-go-round." Another show was also in the making at this time, the Masquers' comedy, "The Silver Whistle."

Doors Close On '53-'54

Basketball and wrestling moved into the spotlight, and after the games dances were held in the girls' gym, with music provided by the Swing Band.

This was a busy time of year as the Have-A-Heart Drive and carnival rolled around, together with WPA Week, the Kitten's Meow, an exchange assembly with Mankato, the Select Music Festival and the sophomore party.

Music next received the focus of attention as the orchestra gave its public performance, the band played for an assembly and the chorus journeyed to Waseca to present a concert at the state agricultural school there.

These events soon passed by and posters appeared around the school publicizing the Student Council elections. Another play, "Rebecca," was portrayed, spring fashion shows were offered, track and golf took over the sport scene and the year began to head toward its finish.

Easter vacation passed by, then the prom was behind, the Music Festival was held and finally Baccalaureate and Commencement were at hand. Each person had moved through the year and could use his past to prepare his future.

LOOKING AHEAD, the top seniors in the class of '54 wonder what the future holds in store for them. FRONT ROW: Schneider, Peterson and Pierce. SECOND ROW: Reynen, Hendrickson, Boyd and Steen. BACK ROW: Throlson, Larson, Ostrander and Berger-son.

AMBITIOUS JUNIORS put finishing touches on the centerpiece for their aluminum-foil prom celing. Working are Audrey Hoyt, Rodger Squires, John Morrison, Shirley Bergerson and Mary Livingston.
